

WOMAN'S HAT CLEW IN SPEEDING CASE

Machine Fails to Stop After Hitting Taxicab and Injuring Chauffeur.

A woman's red straw hat trimmed with imitation cherries is being held by the police as a clew to the occupants of an automobile that sped away after wrecking a taxicab and seriously injuring the chauffeur, John E. West, 27 years old, of 1108 1/2 Ohio avenue, at Twelfth and Pine streets, at 12:05 a. m. today. The hat fell out of the automobile when it struck the taxicab. West was taken to his home, where doctors said he had suffered internal injuries, cuts and bruises.

Woman, Girl and Man Hurt in Other Auto Accidents.

Mrs. Kate Cull, 55, of 4058 Phillips avenue, running to catch a street car at Chippewa street and Gravois avenue, ran into the side of an automobile driven by Dr. R. A. Richardson, 3334A South Grand avenue, last night, suffering a fractured collar bone and a gash on her arm, which was pushed through a window at the side of the car.

Robert Burns, 49, of 2809 Cass avenue, was seriously injured and his wife, Lulu, 43, was cut and bruised when an automobile truck on which they were riding was wrecked by a Hodiamont street car at Twentieth and Wash streets. Burns suffered concussion of the brain and scalp wounds.

Ella May Bellamy, 9, of 6428 West Park avenue, suffered scalp wounds, cuts and bruises at 4 p. m., when struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Miller, a manufacturer, of 2139 Sheridan avenue, as she was crossing Tamm avenue at West Park avenue on her way to a store.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR 89TH DIVISION ENTERTAINMENT FUND

Treasurer Will Keep $5700, Collected During War, Until Auxiliary Decides What to Do With It.

At a conference in Judge Franklin Ferriss' courtroom between members of the auxiliary of the Eighty-ninth Division, who are parties to a proceeding growing out of the disposition of a fund of about $5700, collected in St. Louis during the war to provide a welcome for the division upon its return from France, reached an agreement yesterday afternoon by which the treasurer, who has held the money, shall become receiver, while the auxiliary decides to what purpose it shall be devoted. The proceeding was instituted in December, 1919, by Mrs. Sarah Harris, Miss D. L. Gregory, Mrs. E. H. Felter and Mrs. Elizabeth Piper, who were elected to succeed the original officers. It appears that Edward W. Wiese, treasurer under the original regime, questioned the regularity of the election and refused to turn over the money to the new treasurer, Mrs. Piper. Suit was then brought for a receiver and Homer Hall was appointed but failed to get the money.

The matter came up again yesterday and the conference resulted. An amended petition will be filed embodying the agreement, which will close the court proceeding. Three attorneys are to be paid out of the fund and the balance used for a memorial tablet in Jefferson Memorial and to help any former members of the division who may be needy.

Published Once in a While
by Stix, Baer & Fuller for Boys and Girls, Their Sisters and Their Parents

WE firmly believe that boys and girls have rights of their own, thoughts of their own and to we say a page of their own. Here we present things that have to do particularly with them and with their older sisters. Of course, we have no objections to grown-ups reading the page also—we just have a suspicion that they are going to be very interested and we don't mind confessing that it may be a very good thing for them to do.

We hope you are going to like your page very much. If you have any suggestions about what you'd like to see here, won't you tell us about it? We'll do our best to make use of your ideas.

Of course you are signing your name on the subscription blank at the top of the page! The subscription is free, you know, and if you sign you'll be sure to have the "Herald" coming directly to you every time it is published.

'Are Boys as Vain as Girls?'—Subject of Debate at Boys' Club

A WELL-KNOWN school society spent a lively hour talking about the art of being well dressed and its effect upon boys as well as girls.

"Fine feathers make fine birds," said a speaker on the affirmative side of the debate, "and boys feel this just as much as girls do. Every fellow knows that he has more self confidence when he's well dressed."

One boy made the statement that he couldn't afford to be well dressed, but he was hissed from all parts of the hall and a dozen boys rose to tell him to look for the Stix, Baer & Fuller ad about boys' Spring Suits.

Boys' Suits Specially Priced For Saturday Only

Much Gayety Is Evidenced Among the Slightly Older Set— Sub-debs Greet New Season Festively

AN unusual stir is evident among the alert set composed of people from fourteen to twenty years. Spring fever has announced its attack in a novel and wholly active way. To add spice to their merry whirl of dancing, motoring, "teasing" and "tossing," these people are giving much attention to new clothes.

"It is quite an accomplishment," most any one of these young personages will emphatically tell you, "to take on all the honors of being grown up without sliding way beyond the goal and really looking old."

If she is a generous soul, she will add, that it comes as simply as A B C if you go to the proper place to buy your clothes.

Now "The Misses' Store" at Stix, Baer & Fuller is quite "in" on all the tricky things that girls just adore, the darlingest suits, perfect loves of frocks and adorable wraps—all with "such an air." "Yes, really, didn't you know Mary Beth, Estella, Marion—all those girls who always stand out in a crowd as wonderfully well dressed—go there to buy their clothes?"

After this bit of information, then, you'll be glad to know that the Misses' Store has just received a new lot of things fairly scintillating style and dash. There are—

Misses' Tailored Suits,	$48 to $185
Misses' Polo Cloth Coats,	$25
Misses' Plain or Wrappy Coats,	$35 to $185
Misses' Tricotine Frocks,	$35 to $150
Misses' Taffeta Frocks,	$35 to $135

(Third Floor.)

Sun and Fair Weather Tomorrow and Always

THAT is, of course, in the Stix, Baer & Fuller store, where the things are that boys and girls like. Here there are always lots of things to see, lots of things to enjoy and lots of things you'll want to buy. Come down tomorrow and see.

Prominent Citizen Just Returned From a Southern Trip

MISS MARTHA MADISON, accompanied by her father and mother, has just returned from a trip to the Southland. At a tea given in her honor a few days ago, she told a group of friends that while Palm Beach had been very gay, she needed clothes badly. She much prefers to select her clothes in the Girls' Store. After much urging she displayed two frocks which she had purchased there very recently. One was for parties—primrose taffeta dotted with blue Dresden roses—all ruffled from top to bottom; the other was of taffeta for street wear. It was navy blue with narrow quillings, a paprika colored sash and French knots of pink silk.

Everyone quite agreed that she was extremely wise in her decision, and when she learned that such lovely things could be purchased from $19.75 to $35—they abruptly left the party and rushed to urge their mothers to go with them immediately to Stix, Baer & Fuller's Girls' Store. (Third Floor.)

Shoe Man Tells Facts of Great Interest

IN an important talk made recently we gleaned much knowledge about shoes for boys and girls. That they should be carefully fitted, of proper shape and yet good style, were the main ideas. Then we found that Stix, Baer & Fuller had just such Shoes. You'll find there—in children's sizes and misses' sizes, ankle strap Slippers and Oxfords in patent leather, dull leather and brown, with broad toes. Sizes 8½ to 9. Prices $4 to $6.50 (Children's Shoe Department—Main Floor.)

VERY little girls from one to six years of age are going in for Hats and Bonnets of organdie, Milan and fancy straws. (The Baby Shop.)

Public School Music Memory Test

SCHOOL children are invited to visit the Victrola Department of Stix, Baer & Fuller on Tuesday afternoons from 4 to 5 and on Saturday mornings from 9 to 10:30, to hear the records of the pieces used in the public school memory test. (Fourth Floor.)

Motor Cop Catches Three Auto Bandits After a Thrilling Chase

AFTER a thrilling chase on a speedy velocipede, Willie Wink, aged 4, caught three unknown auto thieves in Forest Park. Two of the thieves escaped from the brave motor cop and are now at large.

The captured bandit refused to give his name. He was dressed in gray tweed coat, with belt all round, and tailored pockets. A Stix, Baer & Fuller label and a price tag, $6.98 are the only clues to his identity.

The auto which is being held at police station, has a windshield of isinglass, bumper and brake. It is worked by foot pedals and can go very fast. It is a Stix, Baer & Fuller $16.50 model. Police are looking for the owner.

A brown Milan hat was found near the scene of the capture. It is a very stylish shape trimmed with brown ribbon band and flat bow. A Stix, Baer & Fuller label would make you think it belongs to the boy in the gray tweed coat, as he seems to have a taste for the best clothes and knows that they are always found for a moderate price at Stix, Baer & Fuller.

THEY are really the talk of the town. No girl feels that she is doing all that she should for herself unless the quaint little design which heads this column is embroidered in the label in the crown of her Hat. There are many, many models but very often you see girls wearing the banded style.

There is so much chic in the fluttering streamers and the roll of the fine soft straw brims—particularly if one wants it for school or dress wear. Prices, $10 to $15 (Junior Hat Shop—Third Floor.)

Woman Athlete Advises Careful Corseting for Girls

MISS HILDA HUNT, in a speech to schoolgirls on hygiene yesterday, said that she indorsed Corsets for young girls but advised care in choosing them.

She spoke favorably of the following models—

The Ferris waist shown by Stix, Baer & Fuller, for the first Corset, has buttoned front and shoulder straps. A girdle shown at Stix, Baer & Fuller's, in all elastic or elastic and batiste combined, is best for outdoor wear and specially recommended for the girl athlete. (Second Floor.)

Inquiry Made as to the Identity of Ap- parent Strangers

WEST END citizens were much excited yesterday afternoon by the appearance of two apparent strangers. The unidentified couple were young women, perhaps 10 or 12 years of age, who seemed to be out for the dual purposes of enjoying the sunshine and of displaying their Spring clothes. One wore a trimly gloved hand, (chamoisette, price, 75c) at one of the gazers, were they recognized as the Misses Matilde Mills and Gracella Groves.

They have since confided to us that they were not in disguise but merely appearing for the first time in their new clothes purchased a short time ago in the Girls' Store.

Girls' Topcoats, of polo cloth, $12.75 to $24.75
Girls' Wrappy Coats, $35.00
Flapper Suits, $25 to $45 (Girls' Store—Third Floor.)

In Society

A LOVELY tea party was given yesterday by little Miss Marjorie Muffett, in honor of her new doll, Lucilla.

Miss Muffett, who is almost three years old, was dressed in an airy frock of palest pink organdie, trimmed with perky ruffles and tiny bits of blue handwork. Miss Muffett's mother was heard telling Miss Peggy Perkins that this adorable dress came from "Made-to-Order" Department at Stix, Baer & Fuller's. Miss Perkins confessed that her new frock came from the same place.

The blonde beauty of Miss Peggy Perkins was brought out by her new lavender dimity. This fine imported material was lavishly trimmed with smocking and embroidery. Pleated frills of white dimity trimmed the neck and sleeves and a white sash tied in a saucy bow at the back. Miss Perkins wore a dream of organdie and lace for a hat.

Miss Susie Small, aged four, was really the most stylish guest. She wore a cape of soft brown velour. Three double rows of cording trimmed the wide circular collar and hem of the fine wrap.

These young ladies talked about clothes all during tea and each told of getting the really nicest things at Stix, Baer & Fuller's.

There is Strength in Every Tablet

One does often help commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out, exhausted nerves. Nuxated Iron is organic from, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach. It is so prepared that it will not irritate the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood, while some physicians claim metallic iron, which people usually take, is not absorbed at all. If you are not strong as well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how long you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron—three times per day, after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. At all druggists.

WHISKY FOUND BEHIND
FALSE BACK IN DESK

Proprietor of Saloon Arrested—
Woman Taken When Cooking
Mash in Her Home.

Nemour Nereaux of 4544 Newberry terrace, a baker, and also proprietor of a saloon at 1226 Olive street, was arrested last night after police in a half hour's search of the saloon discovered a false back to a roller-top desk and behind the partition a quart of bonded whisky and a half quart of un-bonded whisky. The visit by the police was made on an anonymous tip that whisky was being disposed of at the saloon. Nereaux made no statement.

Mrs. Josephine Zinta, 22, of 1905 O'Fallon street, was arrested when police, attracted by the odor of cooking mash, invaded the kitchen of her home and found her attending a small still on a gas range. A milk bottle, two quart fruit jars and a half gallon jug and half gallon jar of "moonshine" was found in the kitchen, they report. In an ice box in the kitchen, the police report finding a 20-gallon keg of corn mash; under the sink, a six-gallon can of mash; in a clothes closet, 23 gallons of mash; and under the kitchen table a dishpan filled with mash. Mrs. Zinta was locked up at the Carr Street Station. She gave no explanation of the still and liquor in her home, the police say.

Carr street police, entering a vacant house at 1022 North Ninth street, found 40 barrels that had contained mash and 25 five-gallon cans that had contained whisky. They were told that Italians who rented the place a month ago had recently moved from the neighborhood.

BOWKER TAX BILL PASSED

House Indorses Bill to Revise Corporation Tax.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—The Bowker bill, which would reduce the corporation franchise tax from $1 to 25 cents on the $1000 of capital stock and surplus of a corporation, was passed by the House yesterday.

This bill, which already had passed the Senate and now will go to the Governor, also defines surplus for the purpose of this tax as the amount of working capital and surplus in excess of liabilities.

~ THE SKY IS THE LIMIT ~

A CAMPAIGN THAT WILL BREAK ALL FORMER SELLING RECORDS

At the very start of this new season we are taking a tremendous stride ahead towards our set goal of three million dollars in cash sales for 1921! We have grasped this moment as the most opportune time to quicken the pace towards this sales mark because we are certain that our rock-bottom prices will stand out in sharp contrast when compared to the exorbitant prices still demanded elsewhere. Cash selling, quick sales and small profits have always been the prime factors in making Well values supreme! This season, however, these same economical and common-sense methods have been applied on a scale so extensive that the results are really astounding. Thousands and thousands of the newest, up-to-date Spring models in Men's, Young Men's and Boys' Clothing have been secured from the leading manufacturers of America at immense savings through our tremendous cash purchasing power. That's why we can offer the people of St. Louis the latest styles and the finest fabrics at a saving of more than 30 per cent on every dollar. Read the items in this special announcement carefully—compare our prices with the exorbitant prices charged elsewhere—then come in and investigate the superior quality of the garments we offer. And remember—on each and every garment you can save more than 30 per cent by buying here!

PROGRESS OF JUSTICE IN 3 COURTS YESTERDAY

Three Jury Trials Initiated and Completed, One Concluded and Two Juries Selected.

The accomplishments of the three criminal divisions of the Circuit Court yesterday were three jury trials initiated and completed, one jury trial concluded which had been in progress two days, two juries selected to try other cases, and a number of other dispositions and arraignments.

In Division No. 10, presided over by Judge Landwehr, Arthur Brooks, a negro, was tried by a jury on a charge of robbery in the first degree and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. The attorney for this defendant had the day before requested a continuance, which was denied. Two juries were selected to try cases tomorrow.

Jess Henderson, a negro, pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and was fined $100 and costs. The case against Charles Kyle on a charge of criminal assault was nolle prossed at the request of the State, on account of insufficient evidence. This defendant is awaiting trial on a charge of grand larceny.

The case of Harry L. Raymond, charged with felonious wounding, was continued for the State until April 18, on the showing that a material witness was absent on account of a death in the family.

In Division No. 11, Judge Hall presiding, the jury trial of Joseph McMich on a charge of murder was concluded and the defendant was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary. The only other business in this court was the arraignment of defendants in cases assigned to the court during the week.

The first business in No. 12, Judge Hartmann presiding, was the case of Robert Hill, a negro, who had gone on trial the day before on a charge of larceny from the person. Judge Hartmann sustained a demurrer filed by the defense at the conclusion of the State's case. The case of Ernest Hubbard, charged with Hill, was continued by the court to April 18, a severance having been taken.

Sam Coates, a negro, was tried on a charge of criminal assault and found guilty and sentenced to 24 years in the penitentiary. At the conclusion of this trial Robert French went on trial on a charge of robbery in the first degree. He was acquitted.

In the morning Judge Hartmann overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Albert Ellis, convicted of the murder of Edna Ellis.

The three courts were not in session today on account of the municipal primary election.

Civil War Spy Dies.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—George M. Hurlbut, who during the Civil War went behind the Confederate lines as a spy on many occasions, is dead. He was 78 years old. Many of Hurlbut's exploits, which covered virtually the entire period of the war, were performed in the guise of a woman. He enlisted originally in an Ohio regiment in 1861 and was detailed to intelligence work soon afterward.

BREWERS AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS ON PALMER'S BEER RULING

St. Louis Plants Plan to Resume Manufacture of Beverage on Small Scale.

St. Louis brewers are awaiting instructions from the Department of Internal Revenue, informing them that they can make real beer of 4 per cent alcoholic content, or higher. A ruling made by former Attorney-General Palmer appears to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wines for medicinal purposes.

It is not expected that the manufacture of beer under these conditions will reach a magnitude necessitating the employment of additional help at many of the breweries. As now construed, the opinion means that beer can be sold on doctors' prescriptions. The Volstead act specifies that no such drink may be prescribed for one individual in greater quantities than one pint for every 10 days.

SLIP OF MEMORY SAVES $84 FOR GROCERY FIRM

Branch Manager, Held Up, Finds He Had Left Package of Money in Store.

Fred Steinke, manager of a Kroger grocery at 2441 North Fourteenth street, at closing time last night, wrapped up in a package $84 of the firm's money to take to his home, 2628 Montgomery street, for safe keeping. On his way home, when he was on Montgomery street between Jefferson and Elliot avenues, two men held him up and after hurriedly searching him ran away. Steinke hunted a policeman. When the officer asked him what the robbers took he went through his pockets and found that he still had in one pocket $84 and in another his watch. Then he wasn't sure the robbers had taken anything. He asked the policeman to go to the store with him. There on the counter was the package containing the $84. "I'm sure glad I laid that package down and forgot it," Steinke said.

One man entered a Kroger store at 2153 North Eleventh street at 2 p. m. yesterday and asked the manager, Harry B. Toft of 2633 North Eleventh street, for three pounds of apples. He then drew a revolver and ordered the manager to lie on the floor in the back part of the store. He took $25.50 from the cash register and ran away.

Robert Heinreich of 2541 South Twelfth street, reported that at 6 p. m. two men who stopped him on Chouteau avenue near Thirteenth street forced him, at the point of a revolver, to walk to an automobile and put up his arms as if fixing the curtain. The men took $25 from him and then drove away in the automobile.

Negro Uses Revolver.
Phillip Gale of 2827 Gamble street shouted for help when a negro with a revolver held him up at 11:40 p. m. on Leffingwell avenue between Thomas and Dickson streets. The negro struck him over the head with a revolver and fled. Gale was taken to the city hospital, suffering from scalp wounds and probable fracture of the skull.

A negro, apparently the same one, again used a revolver on the head of a victim at 12:30 a. m. at Twentieth and Carr streets, when he held up Carl Weber, 26, a tailor, of 1427 O'Fallon street, and Isadore Gordon of 1913 North Fourteenth street. From Weber he took $29 and a watch valued at $70 and from Gordon $3 and a watch valued at $65. When Weber requested the return of his watch, saying it was a keepsake, the negro struck him on the head with his revolver. Weber was taken to the city hospital suffering from scalp wounds.

Chauffeur Forced From Car.
Charles A. Wilkie of 4470 Page boulevard, a chauffeur, reported to the police that shortly after 9 p. m. his automobile was taken from him by several men who hailed him at Cardinal and Franklin avenues when he went there in response to a telephone call. He said that all the men got in and that one drew a revolver and ordered him to drive to Fourteenth and Warren streets, where they forced him to get out. They wanted him not to tell the police and said he would find the car later near Eighth and Market streets. About midnight detectives found the automobile at Sixth and Pine streets and in it was Edward Wiedholder, 22, of 2417 Marcus avenue. Wiedholder was unable to explain how he came to be in the car and Wilkie could not identify him as one of the men who took it. The police held Wiedholder.

The apartment of former Gov. Elliot W. Major, 4319 Lindell boulevard, was robbed of clothing and jewelry valued at $750 in the absence of the family Wednesday.

Burglars took dry goods valued at $200 from the store of Morris Gale at 1309 North Leffingwell avenue.

Says Pocket Was Picked.
Fred H. Pugh of Sullivan, Ind., reported that his pocket was picked of $140 on an Olive car on his way from Eighteenth street to the Lindell Hospital, 3757 Lindell boulevard, where he is a patient.

George Gerke, a chauffeur for the Wilson Packing Co., 2700 North Broadway, asked the police to search for a calf which he said disappeared from a truck load of calves he hauled from the railroad to the packing plant yesterday afternoon.

WILLIAM C. CABANNE
SUED FOR DIVORCE
Wife Says Los Angeles Film Man Permits Other Women to Live in Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 11.—Accusing her husband of permitting other women to live in the house with them and then paying more attention to the other women than he did to his wife, Vivienne Cabanne sought a divorce in Judge Walton J. Wood's court yesterday from William Christy Cabanne, widely known motion picture director and member of a pioneer St. Louis family.

Before deciding the case and passing on a property agreement entered into between Cabanne and his wife, Judge Wood wanted to have Cabanne in court. The case was continued until March 23 and Cabanne will be ordered to appear at that time. Under the agreement Cabanne was to pay his wife $200 a week for the support of herself and her children, set aside a certain amount to purchase a home for her, pay her $1000 in cash when the decree was granted and also 15 per cent of all the royalties he received from pictures he produced.

This agreement was to remain in effect until Mrs. Cabanne remarried, in which case the payments were to cease, with the exception of the $200 a week, which was to continue for the benefit of their three children.

Mrs. Cabanne complained of her husband's treatment of her as compared with his alleged attention to a woman mentioned in the testimony as Millicent Fisher, who, the wife said, her husband insisted on letting stay in their home. She finally insisted on the woman leaving their home, she said. "What did he say when you told him she would have to leave the house?" Mrs. Cabanne was asked. "He said my suspicions were unjust. He said if she left he would leave, too. Many times after I had gone to bed he would stay downstairs with her under pretext of rehearsing her for a picture. Sometimes they would stay up until 1 o'clock in the morning."

Mrs. Cabanne's mother corroborated her statements. "He was so solicitous of this woman," said the mother, "and if she was ill he would have a trained nurse, while his wife would be neglected."

"What was his attitude toward this woman?" the witness was asked. "Very attentive. He called her 'Mil, Dear,' and fed her from his own plate."

The witness said Miss Fisher was studying to be a film actress, according to the defendant's statements. "He said she was his leading woman in his plays," continued the witness.

"Did she ever appear in any of his plays?"

"Not that we could learn."

Man Killed in His Own Trap.
By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., March 11.—John Berg, 54, farmer, living near Omaha, was shot and instantly killed yesterday when he walked into a gun trap in his hen coop. Berg has experienced considerable trouble from chicken thieves. He arranged a heavy-caliber pistol fastened to the roof of the coop in such a position that it would be discharged when the door was opened.

One of Berg's sons expressed the opinion his father forgot that the trap had been set.

HOW TO REMOVE SKIN BLEMISHES
Such as Pimples, Tan, Sun and wind Freckles and Liver Spots.

How to remove unsightly skin blemishes and then keep the complexion white, soft and youthful, has been the desire of women for ages. Black and White Ointment will not only remove skin blemishes, such as pimples, tan, sun and wind freckles, insect bites, liver spots, but lightens a dark, sallow, muddy complexion, and the continued use of Black and White Soap will keep the complexion in perfect condition.

This Black and White Beauty Treatment is safe to use—you cleanse the skin with Black and White Soap. Dry thoroughly, then mix and gently massage Black and White Ointment. The next morning again cleanse the skin with Black and White Soap. Use this treatment for several days and you'll be delighted with the results.

Samples of Black and White Ointment and Soap, as also Face and Talcum Powder, mailed upon receipt of 10c and this advertisement to Black and White Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN WELL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BETHANY, Mo., March 11.—With his hands tied tightly together with wire and a sack of cement tied to his neck, the body of Seth Stanley, a business man of Bethany, was found yesterday morning in a well in rear of his place of business. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Stanley was about 55 years old, and had four daughters, two of whom are married, the other two living at the family home in Bethany. He was proprietor of the Bethany Marble and Granite Works, in addition to managing about 400 acres of farm land. His coat and hat were on the ground near the edge of the well. There were no marks upon the body except scratches on the face.

ACQUITTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Robert Roach, 25 years old, of 316 Hickory street was acquitted by a jury in Judge Hall's court yesterday on a charge of robbery in the first degree. He was indicted on a charge of robbing Arthur Van Nostrand, 2177 Oregon avenue, of $79 and a diamond ring Nov. 9, 1920. Van Nostrand identified Roach at the time of the arrest, but at the trial he testified he was not certain

Eight Scaplanes Back From Panama.
By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—Eight scaplanes of the Pacific fleet's air force that made the flight to the Panama Canal, winged their way home to San Diego late yesterday. Unfavorable weather, motor trouble and other mishaps resulted in a struggling finish. Three scaplanes hampered by engine trouble still are south of this port being repaired.

New Attorney-General Says He Will Make Changes Slowly.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Job hunters seeking places in the Department of Justice will have to wait, according to a policy outlined by Attorney-General Daugherty, who said he proposed to make changes very slowly. While he intimated that Republicans would replace Democratic incumbents in many places of importance eventually, he said a weeding out process was planned which would not incur added expense to the government or duplication of work.
"This department must in truth render a service of justice to all," Daugherty said yesterday. "There will be no 'spite' suits filed so long as I am in charge and there will be no attempt to embarrass any interest. I hope for less litigation, although where the government's interest is concerned or where crime has been committed, I intend to see that the penalty is paid."

DRASTIC CUTS ANNOUNCED IN PRICES OF NAPPED COTTON

Revision for Fall of 1921 Shows Reduction in Wholesale Schedule From 37 1/2 to 12 1/2 a Yard.

NEW YORK, March 11.—A long-expected revision in the prices of napped cotton for the fall of 1921 was announced yesterday by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co.

The new schedule reveals one of the most drastic single cuts ever known in goods of this character, declines usually taking place gradually. It was explained that the reduction was made in view of the radically changed outlook in raw cotton and the prospect of reduced production costs.

The reductions were from a basis of 37 1/2 a yard for daisy cloth last year to 12 1/2 a yard this year, and on the widely known 1921 cloth from 35c to 12 1/2c. These are net mill prices. On fabrics of this sort prices are usually named about the first of each year. The delay was due to congested condition of stocks in jobbing and retail channels which has been relieved by recent clearance sales. The mills have no stock goods to offer and the new business will be for manufacturing purposes only, deliveries beginning in June and running to October.

Child Walking With Mother Stumbles Into Open Manhole.

MONTREAL, March 11.—While Mrs. Joseph Manning was crossing St. James street yesterday with her two little daughters, the elder, Lily, 8 years old, stumbled and fell into an open manhole in full view of the mother. The child was swept away by the rushing water, four feet deep at the spot.

A man who saw the accident ran to the next manhole a short distance away, climbed down and waited to snatch the child if she was swept by, but his effort was in vain.

LENINE AND TROTSKY RECORDS

BOSTON, March 11.—Following an address at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday, Sir Paul Dukas, British newspaper correspondent and former member of Great Britain's secret service in Russia, put two records on a talking machine, one of the Soviet Premier, Nikolai Lenine, and the other of his Minister of War, Leon Trotsky, both speaking "to the Russian people."

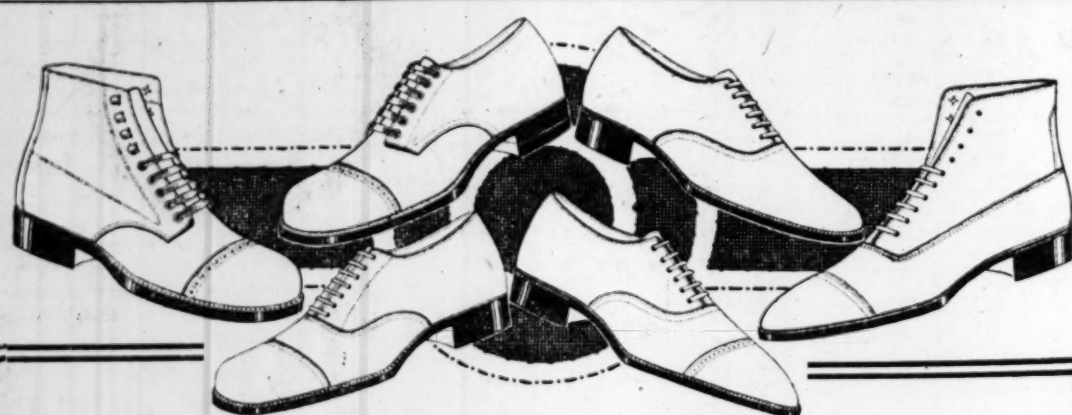

Sir Paul translated the addresses. The unique experience for Boston business men—listening to Lenine and Trotsky—brought out that the "voice of Lenine is that of a man who fairly bellows what he has to say in cavernous tones," and that of Trotsky is of a "trained orator, finely modulated and rising and falling in a sort of musical rhythm."

Lenine's speech asserted that the Soviet government had made a great impression on the world. Trotsky's voiced the sentiments of the third Internationale.

ROMANIAN PRINCE AND GREEK PRINCESS MARRIED IN ATHENS

Second Wedding in Two Royal Families in Last Two Weeks.

ATHENS, March 11.—Greece and Rumania were brought another step closer yesterday by the marriage of Princess Helen of Greece, daughter of King Constantine, to Crown Prince Carol of Rumania. This was the second union of members of the reigning dynasties of Greece and Rumania within a fortnight. The other marriage was between the Duke of Sparta and Princess Elizabeth of Rumania.

The civil ceremony yesterday took place in the palace. It was followed by an elaborate wedding in the cathedral. The procession in the cathedral was led by Carol and his bride, who in a golden carriage proceeded through the principal thoroughfares which were lined with cheering thousands. Queen Marie of Rumania and Queen Sophie of Greece occupied the second carriage. The striking beauty and animated features of Marie contrasted strongly with the somber, immobile countenance of Sophie. Next in the procession came King Constantine, Prince George and the remaining members of the royal families. The only foreign diplomats in the church were the Rumanian, Dutch, Belgian and Spanish representatives.

The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed with gold. Her veil, which was of rare beauty, was made by the women of Bucharest, and is valued at half a million francs. The head of the bride was surmounted by a jeweled diadem costing a million francs. It was the gift of her husband. Crown Prince Carol was dressed in the uniform of a General. The royal couple will remain in Athens for a week and then proceed on their honeymoon to Sinai, in the Carpathian Mountains.

NEGRO, 80, KILLS SELF AFTER SHOOTING BUSINESS PARTNER

John Lowery, 80 years old, a negro, shot and killed himself with a revolver in the rear of a restaurant and saloon at 2708 North Newstead avenue at 1 a. m. today, a few seconds after he had shot and seriously wounded his business partner, Green Suttinton, 40 years old, who lived in the rear of the establishment.

Suttinton ran from the place after being shot in the back and chest and was found by the police on the steps in front of 2710 North Newstead avenue. Lowery was found dead in a rear room, seated at a desk. He had shot himself behind the right ear. Suttinton told the police he was seated in the saloon counting the day's receipts when Lowery came in, apparently having been drinking. Lowery, he said, started to quarrel about the money, drew a revolver and shot him. Lowery lived in the 4309 block on Maffitt avenue.

287,000 Gallons Reported Missing From Warehouse in Newark.
By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., March 11.—A shortage of 287,000 gallons of whisky has been discovered in the Government bonded warehouse in Newark, Assistant United States Attorney Arrowsmith announces.

Arrowsmith made this charge in connection with an indictment returned against Edmund J. Lebreque of Newark, custodian of the warehouse. Lebreque is charged with violation of the Volstead act.

MEETING TO DISCUSS ISSUES*IN BOILER MAKERS' STRIKE

Forty Workers of One Company on Strike Over Question of Number of Men Needed on a Job.

An arbitration committee of members of the Manufacturers' Association of St. Louis and representatives of Boiler Makers and Helpers' Union 27 will meet this afternoon at the office of the Auftrichs Copper and Sheet Iron Co., Second and Lombard streets, in an effort to adjust a dispute concerning the number of men to be employed in the boiler making business.

Since Saturday because the company refused to permit more than a certain number of caulkers to work. The company maintains that one caulker is sufficient for a single job, but the unions want two caulkers on each job. The wages of boiler makers and helpers are $1.10 and 90 cents an hour, respectively, on an eight-hour basis.

Nine boiler manufacturing companies and about 3000 union employees will be affected by the decision of the arbitration committee. At present the strike is confined to the Auftrichs plant. Philip Robson and John Nooter represent the employers on the committee, and the union is represented by its business agent, Joseph Streib.

WOMAN, DESPONDENT OVER ILL HEALTH, SHOTS SELF

Mother Finds Daughter in Bed With Bullet Wound in Abdomen.

Mrs. Libbie Maurer, 40 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Maurer of 4445 Beale avenue, was found in bed at her home at noon yesterday with a revolver wound in the abdomen. She was taken to the city hospital, where doctors said her condition was critical.

Mrs. Louise Maurer, her mother, told the police she had visited her daughter's room at 8 a. m. and had called her to breakfast. The daughter did not arise at the time she said, and a short time later she heard a revolver report, but paid no attention to it. Several hours later, on going to her daughter's room, she found her wounded. She said her daughter had been in poor health for three years. A note addressed to the mother, written by the daughter, was found in the room. She gave her physical condition as the cause for her shooting herself, the mother told the police.

Memorial to the Rev. J. F. Cannon, John Cannon Harris of Fulton, Mo., grandson of the late Rev. John F. ### NEWSPAPER MAN WEDS ENGLISH GIRL, HEIR TO $100,000,000

Marriage Result of Literary Association—Bridal Room in Verse Writer and Bride Has Published Novel.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Behind the quiet issuing of a marriage license at the municipal building a month ago lies a romance of international interest. The bride, now Mrs. Robert E. McAlmon, was Miss Winnifred Ellerman, daughter of Sir John Ellerman, English shipping king, whose fortune is estimated at more than $100,000,000. The bridegroom is a former star halfback of the University of Minnesota, a newspaper man and a writer of verse.

Miss Ellerman came to this country last fall accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Richard Aldington, who, under the name of Hilda Doolittle, has made a name in England as a poetess. "Miss Ellerman" during her visit to the country used the pen name of Winifred Wagner, under which she has published through Macmillan a novel of self-revelation entitled "The Development."

With Mrs. Aldington, Miss Ellerman toured the Middle West and portions of the Pacific Coast. She returned to New York early in February. Shortly after that she met McAlmon in literary circles here and a quick romance resulted. They were married Feb. 14. Mr. and Mrs. McAlmon are reported to have sailed for London a week ago to inform the bride's father of the marriage. Sir John Ellerman has large holdings in the Northcliffe newspaper properties.

MAN NAMED IN TWO FUR THEFTS
HELD IN CHICAGO

Henry W. Bostelmann Said
by Auto Mechanic to Have Invited Him to Take Part in Robberies.

Henry W. Bostelmann, 23 years old, of 1612A Semple place, named in the confession of Everett Long Jr., 5252 Delmar boulevard, as having robbed the Famous & Barr Co. of $100,000 worth of furs, assisted by Long, was arrested last night in Chicago, where he was traced by the baggage check on the trunk in which part of the Leppert-Ross furs were shipped. The trunk and contents, however, have not been recovered.
The value of the Leppert-Ross goods still missing is $12,417.17 and none of the $50,000 of furs stolen from the Famous & Barr store has been recovered.

There was $10,000 insurance on the Leppert-Ross furs. The Famous-Barr furs were not insured.
Long, in his confession, said that after the seizure of one shipment of Leppert-Ross furs at the American Railway Express office, some of the remainder were placed in a trunk and checked to Chicago. Detectives learned that the check number was 49897 and notified the Chicago authorities and the arrest followed.
Bostelmann, who is known to his intimates as "Monte," used the name of A. H. Adam in making the shipment to Chicago. He is an electrician and has been arrested before, but has never been connected with any big thefts so far as the police know. It is supposed that he gained knowledge of the interior of the two stores by representing himself as an electrical inspector.

Police say that last night Mrs.
Lillian Long, wife of Everett Long, confessed that in the last two months she and Neva Gray, alias "Billy," of 5227A Delmar boulevard have been shoplifting at the downtown stores. She named Sixx, Baer
& Fuller, Garland's, Nugent's, Kline's and Famous-Barr as having been robbed of apparel and other articles.
Most of the stolen goods were found at the Gray woman's home.

Detectives also have recovered a fur coat from Elizabeth Roessel of 6319 Audreys court, St. Louis County, which she says she bought from Bostelmann for $133, and a fur coat and two fur scarfs from Elsie Ziern, 2308 North Union avenue, which she says she bought from Bostelmann for $200, and two tan cravettes from Charles and Fred Ziern, same address, which they say they bought from Bostelmann.

Storage Vault Robbed.
When the Famous-Barr robbery was discovered in September, officials of the firm went to Chief of Detectives Hamilton and told him that the cold storage vault had been systematically robbed. Furs had been selected with care, here and there, he said. They suspected that the furs had been taken one at a time, probably by an employee or employees. They said that if the robbery became known they would be swamped with claims, as the stolen pieces were in storage for customers and at their request the robbery was not made public.

Two detectives were assigned and they were at the store 10 days. The private detectives were put to work investigation of all employees, who might have had an opportunity to steal was without result and the theory that the job was done by a gang was being worked on when Long's arrest in the Leppert-Ross case and confession cleared it up.

REPUBLICANS' INACTION AS TO REDISTRICTING DENOUNCED

Resolution Drawn at Caucus of State
Senate Demanding That Prompt Action Be Taken.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—
At a caucus of the Senate last night a resolution was drawn denouncing the Republican majority for failing to introduce a senatorial redistricting bill. The resolution, which also demands that prompt action be taken by the Republicans in keeping with their campaign promises, will be introduced in the Senate this week.

During the campaign Gov. Hyde and other candidates for State offices condemned the present law as a Democratic gerrymander and pledged the party to reappoint the State on an equitable and fair basis.
Shortly after the Legislature convened, the Republican leaders announced that a redistricting bill was wanted, and Representative Mark
Brown of Franklin County, thinking the party leaders meant all they said, drew one. It threatened to unseat some of the influential members of the upper branch of the Legislature and word was passed down that it is to be introduced to permit the bill to die in incubation.

Under the law when the Legislature fails to act, the duty falls upon the Governor, State Auditor and Secretary of State.

Directors of U. R. Elected.
R. F. Dallas of New York was elected a director of the United Railways Co. at the annual election yesterday to take the place of H. C.
Cole of Chester, Ill. All other members of the directorate were re-elected.
They are John I. Beggs, A. C.
Brown, Murray Carleton, Richard
McCulloch, J. K. Newman, H. S.
Priest, A. L. Shapleigh, A. J. Siegel and Frank O. Watts.

NEW BIDS FOR ROAD WORK TO BE SOUGHT

County Court to Advertise for Offers for Construction on Gravois and Manchester.

A delegation of 324 St. Louis County residents with a petition to the County Court to have work on the construction of Gravois road started without further delay, as contemplated in the plans of the State Highway Board for four permanent highways in St. Louis County, was informed today by Presiding Judge Weithaupt that the State Highway engineer had informed the Court this week that it was preparing to advertise again for bids on the construction of the Gravois, Manchester and Lemay Ferry roads in the hope that the contractors this time would modify their bids so as to come within the estimates for this work.

Judge Weithaupt added that, in the event the bids did come within the estimates of the State Highway Board and the bonds could not be disposed of at a reasonable price in the open market, residents along and people living in the vicinity of the highways would be permitted to purchase them, as has been done for the work now progressing on the St. Charles Rock road, the fourth State highway.

Work Help Up by Prices. Exorbitant prices of road building materials have been holding up the work, Judge Weithaupt explained, but the State board now believes bids within its estimates are procurable. The estimates within which the bids must come to allow bond issues are as follows: $480,401 for 6.7 miles of the Gravois road, $305,491 for 7.2 miles of the Lemay Ferry road and $767,321 for 7.2 miles of the Manchester road.

Completion of the four State highways in St. Louis County if completed within the estimates, will cost the county $1,310,724; the State, $20,000, and the Government, through Federal aid of $30,000 a mile, $856,980, a total of $2,196,804, leaving $1,689,276 in county bonds from the $3,000,000 bond issue for other county roads, to which is to be added State and Federal aid.

Litigation Delayed Roads. Judge Weithaupt said that when the original estimates were made five years ago the roads could have been built of the best material for $40,000 a mile, and that current prices of materials and labor would probably make the work exceed $50,000 a mile. He said the court was fearful lest the entire bond issue be required for just the four State highways, leaving little or nothing for other roads.

Thomas K. Skinker, in litigation against the legality of the bond issue, Judge Weithaupt told the delegation, was chiefly responsible for the condition that confronts the county today, and had it not been for Skinker's opposition the roads would have been built at a fair price and in use today.

Approximately $25,000 of the bond issue has been expended for work on the smaller roads, $160,000 of the bonds having been taken by the county with funds from its road-bond sinking fund, and work is now progressing on the St. Charles Rock road, for which $250,000 of bonds have been issued, $100,000 having been taken with sinking fund money of the county and the remainder subscribed by residents along that road.

Peter S. Heutel, who spoke for the delegation, said the temporary work that has been done on the Gravois road was a waste of money, and that permanent construction should be started as soon as possible.

ROCKEFELLER ANSWERS SUIT

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 11.—Stock of the Prairie and Illinois Pipe Line companies received by stockholders of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co. and the Ohio Gas Co. did not constitute a taxable dividend, but was merely a reappropriation of stock in the two latter companies, John D. Rockefeller, through his attorneys, declared yesterday, in an answer to the Government's income tax suit for $292,678.78 alleged to be due on Rockefeller's stock holdings in the two pipe line companies for the year ending Dec. 31, 1931.

The answer said the stockholders of the two oil companies received nothing out of the assets of the pipe line companies for their separate use and benefit, but declared, on the contrary, that all of the assets of their original investment remained subject to business risks which might result in wiping out the investment. Segregation of the pipe line business from the oil companies, he added, had reduced the value of stock in the latter concerns.

MISSOURIAN IN STATE DEPARTMENT POST

Fred M. Dearing Appointed and Quickly Confirmed as Assistant Secretary.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Fred Morris Dearing of Missouri was nominated today by President Harding to be Assistant Secretary of State. Former Representative John J. Elich of Wisconsin and Mark W. Potter of New York were nominated to be members of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Thomas O. Marvin of Massachusetts was nominated to be a member of the Tariff Commission and William S. Culbertson of Kansas was nominated to be a member of that commission.

Medical Director Edward R. Stitt was nominated to be Surgeon-General of the Navy. At the same time the President named Capt. Charles P. McVay Jr. to be chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, with the rank of Admiral. William H. Joyce of Los Angeles, Cal., was nominated for membership on the Federal Farm Loan Board. Three Brigadier-Generals in the Marine Corps were nominated to their present rank. They are: Smedley D. Butler, Logan Feland and Harry Lee.

Other nominations included Chaplain John Thomas Axton to be chief chaplain of the army, with the rank of Colonel; Col. Gustave Lukosh to be a member of the Mississippi River Commission and Ernest Lester Jones of Virginia to be director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The Senate later confirmed the nominations of Dearing, Culbertson, Capt. McVay and Ernest Lester Jones. It also confirmed the nomination of Elmer D. Ball to be Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Dearing, who has been in the diplomatic service 17 years, starting in 1924 as second secretary of legation at Havana, is named to the post which has been vacant since the appointment of William Phillips as Minister to The Netherlands two years ago.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Fischer's Fine Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I went to the Odeon Tuesday night, not expecting much, but wanting to hear the "Mora et Vita" of Strauss again, having heard it a number of years ago at the Odeon, and placing it in my mind as one of the foremost musical compositions of all time. I was delighted beyond measure by my evening. I don't think I ever heard a more interesting program, either here or in New York or Boston, and the performance of orchestra, leader and soloist was up to the quality of the program.

Mr. Fischer, as the conductor of what might be called a serious concert, pleased me immensely. I liked his appearance, I begin with. I thought his manner, motions, etc., were faultless—repose, control of resources, no mannerisms, satisfactory interpretation. I have heard the best conductors in the world from here to Vienna, many times, and my judgment is that Mr. Fischer in the "Mora et Vita" gave the audience everything that could be asked from the composition.

I agree with your critic on his judgment of Mr. Ganz as a conductor—stolid, heavy, uninspired. I think Mr. Fischer should be given charge of the orchestra. I believe he would develop whatever he may need to satisfy the most capricious. I thought that the orchestra responded to him freely and perfectly; it may be my imagination and wish that suggested it, but I thought they played as if they liked him as a man.

New Police Board.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The present Board of Police has the right element, viz: An ex-Chief of Police, but that worthy feature is negated by choosing a member to dictate its policy who has not had the practical experience required to perform this extremely difficult task. Hence the outrages perpetrated indiscriminately on the citizens of St. Louis.

Phone Service.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your issue a few days ago the Bell Telephone Co. made the statement that the telephone service has now reached the point of pre-war efficiency.

Are the subscribers convinced of that? Rates were raised to pay more efficient operators. Where are those efficient operators? We have not seen them, yet we have been paying this increase in rates for some time.

It is seldom that I ask for a number without getting one or more wrong numbers. Furthermore, the operator frequently cuts me off in the midst of the conversation. The operators' attention is called to this, all the satisfaction I get is "Beg your pardon."

I have a residence and also business phone, and it is invariably the case that I can not get either number when I have occasion to call without a considerable amount of trouble and lost time.

Is there anyone except the Bell Telephone Co. that has seen any improvement in the service?

A SUBSCRIBER.

Increase the Police Force.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A few weeks ago we wrote you urging the favorable consideration on the part of your most influential paper of the increase in salaries of the police force. In order to put the salaries of this important municipal organization on a basis whereby the most efficient men could be secured for the force, this has been accomplished.

The next important step necessary, in order that St. Louis may rank among the leading municipalities of this country, is to increase the force to such number that adequate protection can be had.

With the increased salaries granted, we believe that efficiency in the individual will be had, but without sufficient numbers to cover the large area of our city, which has grown considerably in latter years, we will have accomplished little or nothing.

SIDNEY R. BAER.

Renter Pays.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I agree with "Renter." It is the renter that pays the taxes. If the taxes are raised the rent is raised.

ANOTHER RENTER.

School Dances.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In regard to the article published in the Post-Dispatch on "Some Ministers Against Dances in Public Schools," will say that the Ministers' Alliance committee has failed to make a complete investigation. The alumni of the Columbia School have given a number of entertainments followed by dancing in Yeatman and Columbia school, respectively, and were under the direct supervision of at least 20 fathers. The affairs were a success financially and were greatly enjoyed and it can truthfully be said that the morals were as high and conduct correct as at any church service.

THE MOVIE CENSORSHIP.

Have we not had enough of censorship? Have we not had enough of moral prigs clothed with authority and armed with legal bludgeons to drag us into their pincered standards of life and conduct, art and literature?

It seems not, in the opinion of the Missouri Legislature, which is working on a bill providing a censorship for the movies. The bill has passed the House and has been favorably reported to the Senate. Under it three censors are to be appointed by the Governor, with a full equipment of inspectors, clerks, electricians and other employees, with a sliding scale of salaries. All films, reels and views, with all advertising posters of films, reels and views, must be submitted to these censors or their chosen observers and none can be exhibited in the State without the censorship stamp of approval, under penalty of fine or imprisonment or both. There are several exceptions, such as religious, charitable and educational films, reels and views.

The stated purpose of the censorship is to prevent the exhibition of obscene films, reels and views, and those which tend to corrupt the public.

In effect, however, the judgment of the censors is the sole standard. Their decision is law, although there is permitted a rehearing and an appeal to the Circuit Court. Meanwhile, the disapproved movies or those which may be classed as unfit are shut out of the State.

We do not need censors for the suppression of immoral, obscene, debasing and corrupting films. We have laws under which the exhibitors of such pictures can be punished and the films suppressed. We have a Federal law prohibiting the transportation of improper pictures, and we have State laws for the punishment of publishers and vendors of immoral and obscene and corrupting books, pictures and periodicals. Free Governments should operate through laws, not through censors and supervisors. A free people should be controlled by laws, not by censors and supervisors.

If there is to be a censorship of movies, why not a censorship of books or of newspapers or of theaters or of picture galleries? Why single out the movies? The principle is the same in each case. The film is a mode of expression. It is expression through pictures instead of through language. It vividly depicts the drama on the screen; it translates history and literature into moving pictures of life; it presents events in every part of the world.

The movie is a tremendous and potent factor in art, drama, education and culture. Its power will grow and its standards will improve if left free under public judgment. If subjected to petty official censorship it will be strangled at its birth.

Of course, there are evils in the movies, as there are evils in every form of liberty, as there are evils in a free press and in free art of all kinds, but freedom is better than suppression. Degrading pictures have been exhibited, but public judgment has expressed itself and will express itself effectively. Reforms are now working. But whatever evils there may be in movies, free from official censorship, subject to public judgments, there will be more under censorship.

Are the people so ignorant, so foolish, so easily duped and degraded and corrupted that they must have official guardians put over them to protect their minds and morals?

Will censors appointed by the Governor—probably politicians—be more capable than the public of judging films? Think of the public! Must it be satisfied with what three petty officials, who may be without knowledge of art or literature, without culture, taste, insight or understanding, give them? Must all our moving-picture entertainments be squeezed into the compass of the skulls of three political office holders? Must the artist limit his imagination and vision to the commonplace strabismic view of a small official?

The censorship will put the movies into politics. They are powerful agencies for propaganda. They did wonderful work in the war. Why not in politics? What is to prevent the use of the movies under the despotism of political censors for political purposes? Think of the possibilities of corruption! It is easy to imagine what censors, with practically unlimited power to prohibit the exhibition of moving pictures, could do, if inclined, in the way of corruption.

Censorships are the agencies of tyrants who want to control the minds and wills of the people, not of free Governments. Censorships are the verbiage of imperialism. They belong to despotic paternalism.

In the report of the Committee on Education of the Federal House of Representatives against a bill creating a censorship is the following paragraph:

In our opinion every reasonable protection to the public morals can be secured by the proper exercise of the local police power, supplemented by the amendment to the Federal criminal code already suggested. The extraordinary power vested in the commission proposed to be created by this bill will not only give it the right to inspect public morals, as experience has shown, but it is the highest degree dangerous from every point of view.

The State Senate can do the people of Missouri a great service by saving them from the impractical, obnoxious, dangerous and un-American censorship of movies, which is another step in progress towards intolerable regulation of the public. Next will come the theater and then the press. American liberty will be a mockery.

If the country is being run without a President it's because the White House is jammed with patriots who want to help run it.

INCREASING THE POLICE FORCE.

The new Police Board believes the police force should be increased. Many others share that belief. Many reasons can be given for increasing the police force. One of the most urgent reasons is the new Police Board itself.

Police duties have multiplied furiously within recent years. The Post-Dispatch recently recited in detail the long, arduous bill of those duties. If the Police Board adheres to its policy of requiring the police to maintain an espionage over the city, punctuated by frequent sorties, then assuredly the force should be increased—and by a far greater number than the Board now estimates as adequate.

The Post-Dispatch believes that the people of St. Louis should face this question of increasing the police force squarely. We believe the Police Board should do so, too. The Board's defense of its policy is that laws are to be enforced as written. That position, on its face, is most honorable. But if the position is honestly taken, and we do not imply that it is not, then it means that every law on the statute books must be enforced. The Police Board does not qualify its fiat. It does not say that any particular law must be enforced. It declares they must all be enforced. If the Board sincerely undertakes to carry out such construction the necessary increase in the police force will be enormous.

Of militaristic Germany it used to be said that every civilian had a soldier strapped to his back. We have not yet reached the point in America where every citizen has a policeman strapped to his back, but we are headed in that direction and going fast.

Voters can make Friday a lucky day for St. Louis.

FATHER DEMPSEY'S $50,000.
The campaign to raise $50,000 for the Father Dempsey charitable institutions is one in which every citizen of this city can gladly take part.

All of us know, in a way, the work that Father Dempsey has done and is doing. At his hotel and restaurant men out of work, or employed at small wages, can get lodging and food at the lowest price. If they haven't the price they can, in most instances, get credit. A similar hotel is conducted for working women. There is also a nursery which cares for the babies of mothers who have to work.

Even in cold print there is a warmth about such a service. Its real worth, however, can only be appreciated by those whose needs it meets. It is plain, too, that were it not for those institutions, the city would have many problems of despair and desperation on its hands that it does not have now.

As is well known, Father Dempsey began his work in a small way. He found he had a genius for it. The hotel grew and the need grew. And Father Dempsey grew. Public opinion does not regard him as a denominational clergyman; it looks upon Father Dempsey as a minister of humanity to whom anyone can come and be welcomed, regardless of race or religion. The bounty of the Father Dempsey institutions is not that of "the organized charity skimped and leech in the name of a cautious, statistical 'Christ.'" It is a charity unconditioned by creed or question.

It will take $50,000 to pay the debt on the institutions and equip them for the larger service which the present depression so urgently requires. St. Louis ought to raise this money quickly and cheerfully.

France is reported sounding our Government on a modified League of Nations. Optimists feel a bare chance that the sound will not be hollow.

REACTIONARY LABOR LEGISLATION.

The Missouri Senate, a news dispatch informs us, has passed a bill prohibiting strikes of employees working under contract, forbidding picketing, penalizing strikers who walk out without notice and preventing one organization from supplying money to another whose members are on strike.

It would be interesting to note just how the first of these provisions could be enforced. Can men be made to work in the United States if they choose not to do so? Can a man be thrown into prison for not working? If a way could be found to hold workers under contract to responsibility in fulfillment of their contract it should be done, but that way does not lie either in imprisonment or involuntary servitude.

What stamps this measure as grossly discriminatory and reactionary, moreover, is the provision which prevents one labor organization from furnishing financial assistance to another on strike. Are workers to be forbidden to pool their resources to defend their cause when employers are doing it every day?

Unemployment will not be destroyed. It was learned a hundred years ago that this could not be done. And reactionary measures designed to deprive labor of legitimate defensive weapons can only invite bedlam.

The police force is not responsible for holdups, burglaries and murders committed by criminals out on bond. The responsibility for such crimes is shared 50-50 by the courts and the lawyers.

THE POINT THAT STICKS.

The allied public will appreciate without hesitation or compunction what Prime Minister Lloyd George has to say of the elusiveness of the German and the folly of leaving any loophole whereby he may escape payment of reparations or any part thereof.

That, however, is quite aside from the point of the wisdom of the amount of the allied indemnity as arrived at by the Paris council. That amount, far from being a calculation of what Germany could pay at the limit of her powers, was attained by simple negotiation. The figure which Lloyd George brought to the Paris conference was 100,000,000,000 marks.

That result was a compromise between 250,000,000,000 marks, which Briand brought, and 25,000,000,000 marks, which Clemenceau brought. The French needed 10,000,000,000 marks, the British increased 10,000,000,000 marks.

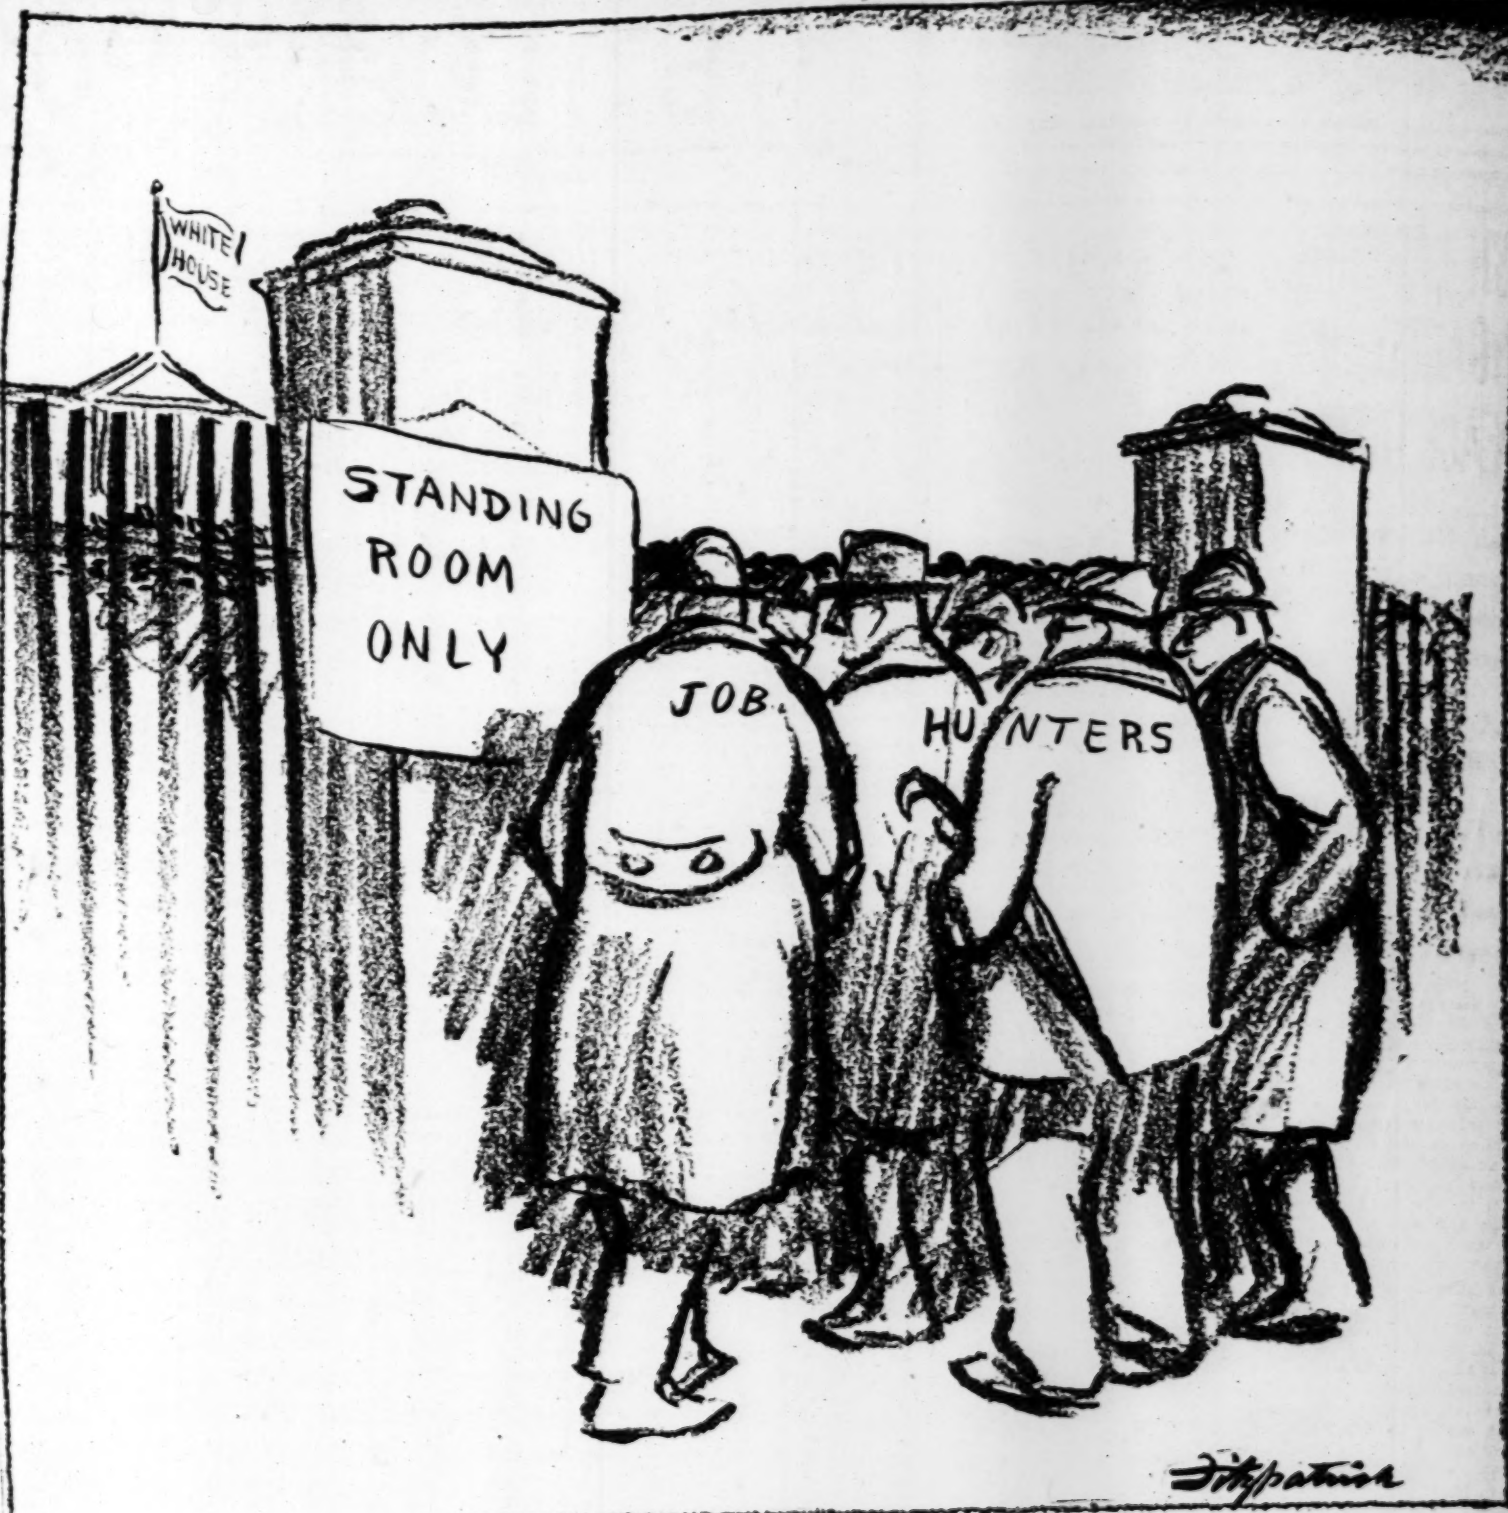

It is this negotiated rather than a calculated indemnity which leaves the position of the allies wide open to attack. It also gave the German Government a fine opportunity to enlist the world sympathy—an opportunity which that Government has missed.

Postmaster-General Hays takes a taxi when he gets impatient with his official car. Such impatience in the mail service wouldn't do a bit of harm.

GARNER.

MEMORY, Time's golden draw-string, has great strength; And one can gather brightness up—each length.

Some cherished past-event, in virgin clime Monotonously white, where arctic snows Forbid warm blooms of heliotrope and rose. Why, one at will, can cluster multitudes Into a bouquet rare—neath leaden skies Can feed with best-loved color-furnished eyes—At will, bring old-time smiles to chilled starved lips.

PLEA FOR THE DISAPPEARING MARSH.

Dr. E. W. Nelson, Chief of the United States Biological Survey, makes a plea for the disappearing marsh. He says a mistaken idea is prevalent that the drainage of almost any area is a benefit to the country. Notwithstanding the restoration to waterfowl of vast breeding grounds in the interior which were for a long time rendered useless by spring shooting, Dr. Nelson is disposed to think that our former concern for the birds has largely been replaced by concern for the marshes in which the birds breed. He says:

"I believe that a careful survey of the water and marsh areas in any State, the most properly versed in the plant and animal products, as well as of the agricultural capacities of the areas in question, will result in the great majority of cases in definitely determining the superior value to the State of such water areas in their natural conditions as against the value of the lands which would be left after they had been drained. Furthermore, the existence of these areas in the State adds greatly to the varied character of the region where located and thus renders them more generally attractive as places of residence for the citizens."

"The Biological Survey is deeply interested in the proper conservation of water areas, since the rapidly increasing drainage of lakes and marshes throughout the country indicates that an effort is made to conserve a considerable number of the best of these for the future, our wild-fowl resorts and feeding places will be practically eliminated from most of the States, and with the elimination of such areas there will disappear opportunities for wild-fowl hunting, and there will be a loss of other products and benefits provided by such water areas."

"It is extremely gratifying to know that in some of the more progressive States efforts are being made to save water areas from further unreasonable destruction. The Conservation Commission of Iowa is already working out plans to this effect under a State law which will permit the saving of the desirable water areas from the landowners. Under the law of Minnesota recent decisions of the State courts have safeguarded water areas from drainage, on the ground of their value to the public in their natural state. Some other States are working along similar lines, but no general policy has yet been agreed upon."

"The results of recent investigations show that wild fowl fly across country in all directions from their main congregating places, thus showing that hunters should take a keen interest in the proposed conservation of water areas in all other States as well as in their own. Once a general policy is established for the maintenance of water areas suitable for wild-fowl resorts, sportsmen may feel assured that a goodly amount of wild-fowl hunting will be possible for a long period in the future. Such a result, however, will not come without earnest effort on the part of sportsmen working with State fish and game commissioners. The Biological Survey desires to make itself useful in helping bring about this best great conservation project for the maintenance of our wild fowl and of vigorous and health-giving out-of-door sports."

We must not laugh at the Eastern concern which wants permission to have its traveling men go about in Missouri armed, since even the creditable Gilbert K. Chesterton has declared only after getting over here that there is a United States west of Chicago. At the time Mr. Chesterton contemplated his original tour of the country we implored him to come to St. Louis and rescue us from the applied psychologists, who were fairly sacking the town. He replied that he was not to go west of Chicago, and our appeal to him for help seemingly impressed him as coming from a wilderness into which he dared not plunge. Nevertheless, upon returning to New York he consented to make a supplemental tour including St. Louis, as if upon reaching Chicago he had looked off upon a pleasing prospect not at all like he had thought it would be. Unfortunately, there wasn't much left of us in the city, and our appeal to him for help seemingly impressed him as coming from a wilderness into which he dared not plunge. ## NEGOTIATIONS DUE TO PREMIER'S REMARKS

Sinn Fein Parliament Said to Have Given Encourage-

Progress at London.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, March 11.—In connection with Premier Lloyd George's announcement in Parliament that "the Government is willing to consider any suggestion for the future of Ireland apart from a demand for an Irish republic," it can be stated on excellent authority that the renewed discussions looking to peace, which began with the conference of Lloyd George and Sir Edward Carson before the assembly of Parliament, are now well advanced.

The Government, according to this informant, insists that the first step in any consideration of a settlement with South Ireland must be the cessation of attacks by the Irish Republican army on crown forces. The Government's position in this respect, so far as can be ascertained from those authorized to speak for the Daily Freeman, offers no barriers to a peace conference, provided the Government likewise agrees to restrain the activities of its forces, particularly the irregular police, against the Republicans. Therefore no progress toward a solution of the situation can be made until a truce is arranged.

The churchmen Lloyd George commissioned to consult with the Sinn Fein leaders and to bring about a peace first attempted just before Christmas to build a peace bridge, but they failed owing to the refusal of the Sinn Fein to surrender their arms and the Government's reluctance to give amnesty to the so-called "murder gang." This second attempt at a truce, the correspondent understands, has been entered into by the Irish Labor party, one or more of the influential members of which are now in London with that object in view.

GOMPERS SPEAKS AGAINST WAGE CUTS AND OPEN SHOP

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 11.—Samuel Gompers voiced organized labor's opposition to wage reductions and the open-shop movement before the student Liberal Club at Harvard University last night. The president of the American Federation of Labor warned the "enemies of rational labor unions" against driving too hard the bargain of wage revision; said that labor regarded aspiration as a guarantee under the Constitution and interpreted that in terms of "we want more," and asserting that the open shop was simply a subterfuge to close shops against labor unionists.

By way of concluding his address, Gompers declared that the Red Cross was denied by the drive upon the anti-vivisectionists at home, that there was consternation among those making the researches until an American automobile manufacturer stepped forward with a contribution toward the war effort.

Surgeons Point Out Ways In Which Public Can Aid In Fight Against Disease

Leaders of Research Work Attending Meeting of Missouri College Explain Necessity of Co-Operation of Laymen With Professionals.

Some ways in which the general public can assist the program of the American College of Surgeons for the improvement of the practice of surgery, progress in the science, the betterment of hospitals and the cure and elimination of disease were related last night at Hotel Statler by distinguished leaders in the work, before an audience composed principally of laymen.

The American College of Surgeons has in its fellowship 6000 surgeons of the United States and Canada. The Missouri section of the college yesterday opened a two-day clinical congress here, the public meeting being an innovation on the program of kindred medical societies that heretofore have met here, described as "tearing away the veil of mystery" that has obscured the profession from popular understanding.

The chief speaker was Dr. George W. Crile, of Cleveland, to whom other fellows referred as having performed distinguished service during the war, among other things, in directing the selection and assignment of the American Medical Corps personnel.

Tells of War Work.
Dr. Crile related several advancements in science attained through and during the war as a basis of an appeal for funds and facilities necessary for the continuance and increase of research work during peace time. He said that the war had tremendously improved the treatment of compound fractures, particularly of the femur (thigh bone), and final healing without permanent impairment, and similarly of the treatment of heavy wounds of the knee and other joints. Before the war, he said, a compound fracture of the femur, which arrived on an average of two days after occurrence, with only 8 per cent of the patients surviving, and amputations and virtually no shortening of the fractured members.

"Surgery gained remarkable control over the length of fractured limbs during the war," Dr. Crile declared. "The war," Dr. Crile said, "brought intensively to our minds the value of more light and more information. If 25 or 30 per cent of our young men would be rejected by the fundamental exactions of a draft examination, it is a reflection upon our understanding of the human body, a large proportion of defects could have been avoided by research and more light. It is estimated that there are 8,000,000 goiters in the United States. We recognize that goiters are a lack of iodine in the human body. A sufficient amount of iodine given to the growing child would have suppressed a percentage of these goiters. There are a great many things present in our bodies not conducive to long life which are problems for research.

America Takes Lead.
"Before the war American medical and surgical practice largely was the reflected intelligence of Europe. The war destroyed largely the power of European universities to continue research. The torch has all but gone out. It has been handed to us. We alone are left the means to light the way. What does this exact of American laymen? It means that American medical schools, universities and hospitals must be ready to be carried forward even to the battle line, where it saved the lives of countless soldiers.

Dr. Crile illustrated the value of lay help by the relation of an even-oddly of the Red Cross. Much of the research work in the war, he said, was carried on under appropriations of the Red Cross. He declared that when further assistance was needed by the drive upon the anti-vivisectionists at home, that there was consternation among those making the researches until an American automobile manufacturer stepped forward with a contribution toward the war effort.

Dr. Crile will speak tomorrow at 4 p. m. in the Washington University medical school auditorium, on "The Recent Development of Cure for Cancer and the Importance of Early Recognition." The lecture will be illustrated and given in terms for the understanding of the layman. The public is asked to attend.

Dr. Crile was held in various St. Louis hospitals today and a scientific session this afternoon is concluded the meeting.

SENATOR ASSAILS LOBBYISTS FOR INSURANCE BILL

Young Charges Superintendent of Insurance and His Deputy With Effrontery to Legislators.

MEASURE BACKED BY COMPANIES

State Officers Attacked for "Violation of Law and Rules of Respectability" in Circulating Pamphlets.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—During a debate on the retaliatory insurance bill, which served as its backdrop, Senator Young of Caldwell yesterday afternoon delivered a bitter condemnation of A. L. Hart, Superintendent of Insurance, and Joshua Barbee, his deputy, for lobbying on the floor of the legislature the bill, which is backed by all of the reciprocal insurance companies in the State.

When the Senate convened yesterday afternoon each Senator found on his desk a pamphlet, signed by Hart and Barbee, setting forth the reasons why they wanted the retaliatory measure enacted into a law. Senator Casey of Kansas City, who introduced the bill in the Senate, called it up and offered three amendments, which Senator Proctor said "eviscerated the old bill, but presented the same scarecrow in a new regalia."

In expressing his disapproval of the amendments, Senator Young launched into a diatribe against what he believed to be an unbreakable combination of the 19 Republican Senators in caucus. Practically all legislation of importance was to be passed through the hands of the caucus, he said, and he declared that the caucus was a "lawless body."

Law More Breached Than Observed.
"The law forbidding lobbyists to pursue their vocations while in the legislature has been more breached than observed during this session of the Legislature," said Young, "but the most flagrant violation of that law has been the registering as such has been more breached than observed during this session of the Legislature."

"In a pamphlet, the copy of which is printed in box-car letters, the members of this Senate are told what Mr. Hart and Mr. Barbee demand that we do with this bill. Here we have an example of some of the State, not only violating the rules of respectability, but disregarding the law, and placing upon the desks of every Senator a document which is a brazen violation of the law. I have never before heard of such brazen effrontery offered to a law-making body. For some unknown reason we are ordered by our State officials to provide a method for penalizing foreign corporations doing business in this State, and leave it to the discretion of these same officials to decide when the punishment should begin."

Extracts Read From Argument.
Senator Young then read extracts from the Hart-Barbee argument. "The cold truth is that the Superintendent of Insurance of this State is without authority to protect Missouri companies. In brief, the other fellows have guns and we haven't."

The passage of the above-named bill is earnestly desired by practically all of the Missouri companies for their protection and for that reason this department is advocating its passage. It is inconceivable to our minds that a Missouri Legislature, upon being advised of these facts, will fail to pass a proper law for the protection of our home institutions."

More Hospitals.
Stephens declared that whereas in 1915 only 89 of more than 600 hospitals met the minimum standard set by the college, that through its efforts more than 400 of these hospitals met the standard in 1920.

Dr. J. F. Blinn of Kansas City, speaking at the City Club, said that the staff at which progress and short-cuts met the standard in 1920.

"Too much money is expended in improving hospital exteriors," he said, "and relatively too little on the inside." He related the fact that soldiers during the war received the best of medical and surgical treatment in barracks hospitals and advocated that similar high-grade service be extended to civilians in peace times at low cost.

Dr. Blinn will speak tomorrow at 4 p. m. in the Washington University medical school auditorium, on "The Recent Development of Cure for Cancer and the Importance of Early Recognition." The lecture will be illustrated and given in terms for the understanding of the layman. The public is asked to attend.

COMBINE FORMED BY HIRAM LLOYD IN SENATE NOW VIRTUALLY IN COMPLETE CONTROL OF THE LOWER HOUSE ALSO

So-Called Caucus of 18 Senators Maneuvers Into Position to Force Its Will in All Legislation.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd's secret combine in the Senate today is occupying the most strategic position it has held since it was formed early in the session, having quietly and virtually unnoted maneuvered until its control is practically complete over both houses. Heretofore it has been considered a Senate affair only. With the adjournment only a week or 10 days away, the caucus of 18 Republicans, Senator Seneker, one of the original 19 being a recalcitrant now, is prepared to force its will on the House and believes it will be successful.

Aside from a few election bills, the mortgage recording tax bill and possibly a few others, no important legislation has been passed. All is still pending, including the complete list of Gov. Hyde's departmental consolidation bills, which will create an unlimited number of jobs for the more important of which members of the legislative organization are slated.

But Few Realize Situation.
Very few members of the House realize the situation in which the Lieutenant-Governor has placed them and his Senate caucus combine, though virtually all within the combine have for some time been aware of the purpose of the legislative maneuvering which Lloyd skillfully has been conducting.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch editorial of last night, Lloyd organized what he believed to be an unbreakable combine of the 19 Republican Senators in caucus. Practically all legislation of importance was to be passed through the hands of the caucus, he said, and he declared that the caucus was a "lawless body."

But the Post-Dispatch exposure of the caucus methods alarmed Lloyd and his associates to such an extent that the meetings of the caucus virtually have been abandoned. Lloyd and his associates are now working to break the caucus and to bring the House and Senate into line.

Election Bills Well Along.
The election reform program is the farthest along. These bills were introduced in the Senate and met with little opposition. They included a blanket-ballot law, a new primary law, a registration and election law and a law to permit contests of primary elections. With the exception of the primary law, all have been passed by both Houses and the primary law has passed the Senate.

Policy of Delay Followed.
A policy of delay was followed. Bills were held in committees. Long week-end adjournments were taken. Republican Senators delivered long speeches on the most trivial matters. To the press table in the Senate it has seemed for more than a month that no means for delay of legislation was overlooked. The Governor delivered his special message three weeks ago, demanding a speeding up of the legislative process. Under the Governor, this gave Lloyd his opportunity for his master-stroke of legislative control.

He called a caucus of members of both houses. House members, fearful of Lloyd's control, refused to take up bills in joint caucus, and insisted each house should handle its own affairs. This action looked like it meant independence of Lloyd, but as a matter of fact it did not interfere in the slightest with his plans.

A committee of members of both houses was appointed to confer with the Governor and decide upon the method of handling the important legislation which the Governor had recommended. At Lloyd's suggestion the important bills were divided between the houses, the house through Lloyd's watchfulness being assigned the greater number of the job bills. The Senate took over the election reform bills, to which there was no particular objection, and the House took the county unit school bill.

The real condition which will bring Lloyd's control to the front probably will not develop until the first of next week, when the Senate will begin acting on the Governor's bills which have been mercilessly amended in the House.

Real Purport of the Scheme.
The scheme is for the Senate to amend the House bills back to practically the original condition as introduced by the Governor's instance, and they will go back to the House for concurrence in the Senate amendments. It is so arranged that the House will refuse to concur. The action will mean the appointment of a conference committee of an equal number of members of both houses to work out a compromise between the amendments and to report back an agreement for adoption by both houses.

Most of the 142 members of the

HIRAM LLOYD

House for two weeks have been anxious to return to their homes and each day this desire increases in intensity. The 19 Republican members of the Senate are prepared to wear them out. The game is for the Senate to stand pat and wait for the House to come to its terms. The House will not believe that it will take many days, as after next Wednesday the legislators' pay will be only $1 a day.

An examination of the legislative records reveals that virtually no legislation of importance has been worked out to completion. Such time as the two houses have worked, attention has been given to salary increase bills, and to important local measures. There have been salary bills for the St. Louis police, for the Kansas City police, for Supreme Court stenographers, for Probate Judges, for Surrogate, for Criminal Court clerks, for Deputy Circuit Clerks, and for numerous other State and county officers and employees whose salaries are fixed by the Legislature, but not much else.

Important bills, it is true, have been advanced to a stage where they can be acted upon quickly, and it is probable that quick action on them will be taken when the Senate caucus demands are met by the House. Many have passed the House and many have been engrossed in the Senate and in the House and can be passed with little delay.

The election reform program is the farthest along. These bills were introduced in the Senate and met with little opposition. They included a blanket-ballot law, a new primary law, a registration and election law and a law to permit contests of primary elections. With the exception of the primary law, all have been passed by both Houses and the primary law has passed the Senate.

Policy of Delay Followed.
A policy of delay was followed. Bills were held in committees. Long week-end adjournments were taken. Republican Senators delivered long speeches on the most trivial matters. To the press table in the Senate it has seemed for more than a month that no means for delay of legislation was overlooked. The Governor delivered his special message three weeks ago, demanding a speeding up of the legislative process. Under the Governor, this gave Lloyd his opportunity for his master-stroke of legislative control.

He called a caucus of members of both houses. House members, fearful of Lloyd's control, refused to take up bills in joint caucus, and insisted each house should handle its own affairs. This action looked like it meant independence of Lloyd, but as a matter of fact it did not interfere in the slightest with his plans.

A committee of members of both houses was appointed to confer with the Governor and decide upon the method of handling the important legislation which the Governor had recommended. At Lloyd's suggestion the important bills were divided between the houses, the house through Lloyd's watchfulness being assigned the greater number of the job bills. The Senate took over the election reform bills, to which there was no particular objection, and the House took the county unit school bill.

The real condition which will bring Lloyd's control to the front probably will not develop until the first of next week, when the Senate will begin acting on the Governor's bills which have been mercilessly amended in the House.

Real Purport of the Scheme.
The scheme is for the Senate to amend the House bills back to practically the original condition as introduced by the Governor's instance, and they will go back to the House for concurrence in the Senate amendments. It is so arranged that the House will refuse to concur. The action will mean the appointment of a conference committee of an equal number of members of both houses to work out a compromise between the amendments and to report back an agreement for adoption by both houses.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—The bill creating a Department of Agriculture, at the head of which will be a Commissioner of Agriculture, and which will take over the duties of the State Board of Agriculture and all the agricultural activities of the State, has passed the House and is on its third reading calendar in the Senate. Within a day or two, probably, the House bill will be substituted in the Senate for the Senate bill and passed. Roy Monier of Carrollton, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, is said to be slated to head this department.

The bill creating a Commissioner of Budget with power over all departments through provisions giving him the right to supervise all expenditures, has been engrossed in the Senate and is on the calendar for engrossment in the House. In this condition, it probably will not be ready for passage in the second House until late next week.

The bill creating a Commissioner of Finance, for which J. G. Hughes, chairman of the Republican State Committee is slated, has been passed in the Senate and is on the calendar for final passage in the House. It may be reached any day.

Bipartisan Measures.
The bipartisan bill, which is the two bipartisan measures of the administration, has passed the Senate and is on the third reading calendar in the House. It is bipartisan in that it provides for a Board of Managers of eight, four Republicans and four Democrats, but the bipartisan measure is largely nullified through the provisions of the budget bill giving the Commissioner of Budget supervisory control over all expenditures.

The bill creating a Board of Education to manage the State Teachers' School was chairman of the Missouri Teachers' Association Committee of that measure. Prof. G. R. Crissman, man of the Warrenburg Normal School, was chairman of the Missouri Teachers' Association Committee of that measure. Prof. G. R. Crissman, man of the Warrenburg Normal School, was chairman of the Missouri Teachers' Association Committee of that measure.

Letter Presented by Stevens.
The letter, Stevens said, was handed to the writer to him at his desk in the House chamber a few days before Gov. Hyde delivered his special message to the House, informing, among other things, the unit bill. It was as follows:

"Messrs. Heege and Stevens: 'You will recall the proposition I made this morning for the purpose of getting a working agreement between the advocates and supporters of the county unit bill and the members of the Legislature from St. Louis County.'"

"We propose to guarantee the passage of an exemption bill for St. Louis County in this way. If we fail to get such an exemption bill passed by the House before it comes up for action by the Senate then we agree to write the exemption in the bill in the Senate."

"With this understanding, we expect you to give your support to the county unit bill."

"I have spoken to the chairman of the committee and to all interested parties. G. R. CRISSMAN. Stevens declared he considered this a proposition, as he had not agreed to anything. He added Heege remained away from the House while the unit bill was under consideration Wednesday."

Fight on Bill General.
When the Heege bill was called for engrossment last night, it got little encouragement from representatives present, even those opposed to the bill fighting it on the ground that what was good for them was also good for St. Louis County.

Unit bill, offered an amendment to strike from the bill, which also contained provisions for the consolidation of school districts within St. Louis County and Jackson County, where practicable, the clause exempting those counties from the unit requirements.

During the debate one of the representatives from St. Louis County asked Representative Fair of Adams County, chairman of the House Committee on Education, an advocate of the unit bill, why that committee had reported the Heege bill out favorably.

"To give you a chance here on the floor," Fair replied, denying that there had been any understanding by him that St. Louis County was to be permitted to evade the unit requirements.

Heege demanded a roll call on the amendment, which carried over-whelmingly.

Heege moved indefinite postponement, which carried without objection. Whitaker moved that the Senate be requested to return the unit bill to the House, as carried by a majority of the House.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—The House last night, in disorderly session, marked by charges of collusion and under cover agreements with regard to the county unit school bill passed the night before by a vote of 89 to 43, adopted a motion by Representative Whitaker of Hickory County to request the Senate to return the unit bill to the House. Later on reconsideration, the request was recalled, and the matter is still before the House.

The excitement arose during and after consideration of a bill by Representative Heege of St. Louis County, which would have exempted St. Louis County and Jackson County from provisions of the unit bill, and led to the production afterward by Representative Stevens of St. Louis County of a letter written with a pen on a sheet of small ruled tablet paper, and signed "G. R. Crissman," in which St. Louis County was guaranteed exemption from the provisions of the unit bill in return for the support of her representatives for that measure.

LYDD'S SENATE COMBINE VIRTUALLY IN CONTROL OF HOUSE

In urgent need of more revenues for schools, and for county and city governmental purposes.

Promise on Assessments.

A promise had been made by the Governor that the Equalization bill would bring assessments throughout the State to a 100 per cent basis. As property in rural Missouri was assessed at from 25 to 40 per cent of its value, 100 per cent assessment would mean that taxes would be doubled or trebled in virtually all of rural Missouri. To avoid this, considered by the administration to be most dangerous from a political standpoint, and not required by conditions, the 17 bills to reduce tax rates were evolved. In general, they provided that tax rates should be reduced one-half and a provision was added that the revenue derived from taxes should not be more than 10 per cent larger any year than the preceding year. Thus they virtually became bills to increase taxes 10 per cent a year for several years.

These bills were passed by the House yesterday and will go to the Senate, where it is intended they shall not be acted upon until the Board of Equalization fixed the assessed valuation of the State. The board is endeavoring to complete this work by the first of the week.

It seems there is no question that the county unit bill intended to provide weak country school districts with sufficient funds to maintain a nine-months' school with competent teachers and properly equipped school buildings, will be passed. It was advocated by Gov. Hyde as "the most important recommendation" and, despite determined opposition from some influential Republican members of the House, was passed. It is yet to be passed by the Senate, but there appears no probability that it will encounter serious opposition there.

It emerged from the House in a form satisfactory to the administration and to the State Superintendent of Schools, and is looked upon as the outstanding legislation of the session.

Compensation in Doubt.

Workmen's compensation has not fared so well, and its fate is still in doubt. Notwithstanding the fact that the State Federation of Labor and the Employers' Association had, after numerous conferences and much labor, agreed upon a bill, it was amended in both houses so that it became unsatisfactory to both employers and employees. The insurance feature was the principal point of contention. The bill contained provisions permitting employers to carry liability insurance in the regular insurance companies. The Senate amended the bill to provide for competitive State insurance and the House to provide for monopolistic State insurance.

Representatives of the Federation of Labor were at first disposed to quit in disgust, later changed their minds and advocated the passage of the House bill, which was done. They have agreed with the employers to amendments of the House bill in the Senate to restore the measure to make it reasonably satisfactory to both. If these amendments, covering the insurance features and other objections found to the engrossed bill, are accepted in the Senate and concurred in by the House, workmen's compensation will be another important piece of legislation.

Although Gov. Hyde, in the campaign and in his message, advocated the passage of the agreed compensation bill, he did not get behind the bill in the troubled times when it was being amended and none of the force of his administration was expected for it.

The American Legion has fared well with its legislative program. While it had several bills, the two in which it exhibited the greatest interest were the bill creating a State boxing commission and a joint and concurrent resolution submitting to a vote a $15,000,000 bonus bond issue to give each soldier and sailor from Missouri in the world war a bonus of $10 a month for the time he was in service.

The boxing bill has passed both houses and will become a law in regular course if signed by the Governor. The bonus resolution also has passed both houses, though it was slightly amended in the House, the concurrence of the Senate yet being required on the amendments. It is virtually a certainty that the Senate will concur and the bond issue submitted at the next general election.

Park Purchase Possible.

The proposal of the purchase of the Ha Ha Tonka tract of land in Camden County for $200,000 for a State park has not progressed far, though there still is a possibility of the purchase. The bill authorizing it was engrossed in the Senate Wednesday night, but it has quite a road to travel before it becomes a law. There is very determined opposition to it in the House, and even if it should be passed, there is extreme doubt that the Governor will sign it. He has expressed himself in favor of a State park, but has said he so far has been unable to see that the expenditure would be justified in view of the needs of the State institutions.

It will be impossible for the Legislature to avoid the usual jam of bills at the close of the session. So far no action has been taken upon the six big appropriation bills. In fact, only two of them have been introduced. Unusual delay has been caused by the uncertainty as to the fate of the consolidation bill. If departments are to be consolidated, appropriations must be made for the consolidated departments. If they are not consolidated, the appropriations must be made for the separate departments and institutions. In past legislatures virtually an entire day has been devoted to each of these bills, which provide the funds for all State administrative expenses.

Are American children lacking in musical appreciation?

What noted educators say

A CELEBRATED impresario, who recently visited this country, commented on what he called "the woeful neglect of American parents in failing to bring their children to a proper appreciation of good music."

American authorities are inclined to agree with him. But they say this deficiency will rapidly disappear when recognition of the phonograph, as an educational factor in the home, becomes more general.

For that reason noted educators are now pointing out the importance of the phonograph in "musically developing" children. And they say that the child, brought up in an atmosphere of good music, will afterwards manifest "that broader understanding of musical art which is associated with cultured people the world over."

In this connection, however, it is well to note the following:

The importance of true reproduction of tones

IN a lecture before the Brunswick Institute last month, a prominent teacher of music said:

"In homes where there are children, particular care should be exercised that the family phonograph be one that renders true tone values, because the danger of spoiling a child's ear for music, by false tones, is ever present. The notes of the piano must be the true tones of the piano; those of the violin unmistakable."

able, and the voice given its fullest expression without mechanical discord."

In the homes of greatest musicians—The Brunswick

GREATEST musicians of Europe and America agree that the Brunswick more closely approaches true rendition of the tones of the voice, the piano and all other musical instruments, than any other phonograph. And that it conveys sustained notes of mellow quality and mighty crescendos of volume with equal facility.

This is due to the Brunswick Method of Reproduction embodying the Ultratone and the Tone Amplifier—patented Brunswick features which result in the playing of all makes of records, with a freedom from mechanical suggestion almost startling to one accustomed to hearing the ordinary type of phonograph.

Any Brunswick dealer will be delighted to explain and demonstrate these features to you. And, incidentally, to show the complete Brunswick display of Standard models and Period Designs—especially interesting to the bride, as well as to the lover of fine furniture—in which a super-phonograph is combined with the highest expression of the cabinet maker's art.

SUPREME COUNCIL GREEK-TURK

Adjustments Are Expected to Govern Count.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISIANA, March 10.—The Supreme Council last night made the new proposals for the settlement of the Greek-Turkish dispute. The council, which is composed of representatives of the United States, France, Great Britain, Greece and Turkey, is to meet in Athens and to consult their Government.

It is understood that the council will accept the independence of the Turkish Straits, while the Greek-Turkish dispute is settled in the French and Italian Cilicia.

"We are much interested," said the council, "in the settlement of the Greek-Turkish dispute. The council will accept the independence of the Turkish Straits, while the Greek-Turkish dispute is settled in the French and Italian Cilicia."

SUPREME COUNCIL COMPLETES GREEK-TURKISH PROPOSALS

Adjustments Are Ready for Presentation to Governments of Two Countries.

LONDON, March 11.—The Supreme Council last night completed the new proposals which will be formally communicated to the Greek and Turkish delegates Saturday. The Greeks and Turks then will proceed to Athens and Ankara, respectively, to consult their Governments.

It is understood the French accepted the independence of New Armenia, while the negotiations between the Turks and French resulted in the French agreeing to evacuate Cilicia.

"We are much nearer peace," said Nabil Rached Bey, "French with France will be signed in a few days. All outstanding questions between the Turks and the allies with the exception of Smyrna and Thrace, are practically settled."

The Turkish delegates declare that the allies agreed to the appointment of the Turkish Finance Minister as President of the Constantinople Financial Commission and to give him also another member of that body; increase the army, which was limited to 25,000 by the treaty of Sevres, to 75,000; evacuate Constantinople, abolish the zone in the straits established by the treaty, the allies maintaining one position there, and give the Turkish free access to the European and Asiatic coasts, with liberty to construct defenses at Constantinople, including the rebuilding of the Tcha-ta line.

The settlement provides for the maintenance of Turkish sovereignty in Smyrna, under a Christian Governor, not necessarily a Greek, who doubtless will be appointed by the League of Nations. It is proposed to divide the Vilayet of Smyrna into Turkish and Greek administrative zones, according to the wishes of the population.

RULING AGAINST "TODDLE"

Neither the "toddle" nor the "camel walk" will be permitted at the monthly dances of the First Regiment, National Guard of Missouri. It was decided last night at a meeting at the Armory of the First Regiment Auxiliary, which was organized a month ago, and which will sponsor the dances.

Mrs. Norman Windsor of 4121 First avenue is president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Charles S. Thornton, 280 Eastgate avenue, is secretary. All relatives and friends of the officers or enlisted men are eligible for membership. The auxiliary will meet the second Thursday of each month.

Improvement in Building Trade.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The first definite sign of improvement in the building trade throughout the country is found in the February building returns to Bradstreet's, announced today. These show a total expenditure in 146 cities for the second month of the year of $7,610,102. While this is a decrease of 25 per cent from February, 1920, it is a gain of 22 per cent over January of this year.

Men's Clothing Prices for Spring, 1921

IT is our impression that extravagant value-giving claims that are being made today have no basis for existence, for the reason that Spring, 1921, clothing prices have reached a new level. We do not believe you are interested in what clothes were intended to sell for in the Spring of 1920 or in the Fall of 1920. It is our belief that you want to know what clothes are selling for in the Spring of 1921—and you want to be sure that they are clothes that were made for Spring, 1921, and not left-overs.

Perhaps you can get a better idea as to clothing prices of today by our statement that Kuppenheimer good clothes start this Spring at $35.00. If it's a Kuppenheimer Suit, it is thoroughly good, the material is pure wool, and the tailoring is of a high standard. When you can buy a garment of that sort for $35.00, you know there is a new price level for this Spring.

The clothing industry has endeavored to stabilize conditions this Spring, and is operating upon a profit-making basis. It could not continue to exist and make sacrifices each season. There has been a stabilization in the Spring of 1921, with a new and permanent standard. The public is receiving a full measure of value, based on present day conditions. Prices are not as low as they were in 1914, because labor is much higher and other costs have advanced slightly. The values obtainable in clothes of good quality are exceptionally attractive.

There are other Kuppenheimer products that range in price upward to $75.00.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

DORRIS MOTOR STOCKHOLDERS PLAN TO FORM HOLDING COMPANY

Transaction Proposed to Permit Expansion by Turning Fixed Into Liquid Assets.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Dorris Motor Car Co., 4100 Laclede avenue, has been called for March 21 to consider a proposal for the formation of a holding company among the stockholders to purchase all the property and improvements owned by the company. In the proposed transaction the parent company would take back a loan on the property from the holding company.

J. P. Culver, secretary of the company, explained that the reason was to permit further manufacturing expansion by turning the fixed assets of the company into liquid assets. He said the company had been unable to spread out and increase its output of cars to supply the demand on account of the lack of liquid capital. The company has had too much of its capital tied up in real estate, he said. Through the organization of a holding company, the Dorris estate, the parent company would be given several hundred thousand dollars in liquid capital for manufacturing purposes.

"The company has opened up 29 new agencies in all parts of the United States in the last year," he said. "The output was 600 cars last year, but it is estimated that in the next year we must manufacture from 1000 to 1500 cars to supply the demand."

The proposed holding company would be capitalized by at least $250,000, or probably more, he said. The value of the property owned by the company is between $350,000 and $500,000. In addition to the property on the west side of South street from Laclede avenue to Forest Park boulevard, on which the main building of the company is located, another building on the north-east corner at South street and Forest Park boulevard and a strip of vacant property on the southeast corner is owned.

DEMOCRATS SAY HYDE EVADED SPIRIT OF LAW IN APPOINTMENTS

Senators Maintain That Governor Did Not Appoint Bipartisan Election Board.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—Accusations were made by Democratic Senators in a secret session of the Senate last night, held to consider confirmation of the four Election Commissioners appointed by the Governor in Kansas City, that Gov. Hyde had knowingly evaded the spirit of the law requiring him to appoint a bipartisan board of Election Commissioners.

Senator Casey of Kansas City said that B. H. McGarvey and W. H. Moore, appointed as Democrats, had voted for Republicans for virtually all offices in the last election and that in the preceding majority election in Kansas City one of the men voted for the Republican candidate for Mayor. McGarvey and Moore attended a meeting of the Private Corporations Committee of the Senate Wednesday night and when questioned by Casey admitted having voted the Republican ticket.

Casey obtained from Senator Proctor of Kansas City admission that Casey had told him before the appointments were made in the Senate that the men had voted the Republican ticket and that Proctor conveyed the information to the Governor.

The matter was postponed until this afternoon, and Senator Buford, minority leader, will ask Gov. Hyde to appoint "regular Democrats."

CAR CREW BILL ENGROSSED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—The bill to require street car companies in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph to have crews of two men on all single cars and one man each on all trailers, brought to Jefferson City by John McCready of the St. Louis street car men's union, was ordered to engrossment by the House last night.

Representative Goodenough, who handled the bill on the floor of the House, declared the one-man cars were dangerous, and that they had caused accidents in Kansas City. He said the cars had not proven a success on the Clayton line, in St. Louis County or in Decatur, Ill.

HYDE CONSIDERING POSTPONING EXTRA SESSION UNTIL AUGUST

Delay Sought for Consideration of Redistricting Bill Before Action Is Taken on Road Fund.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

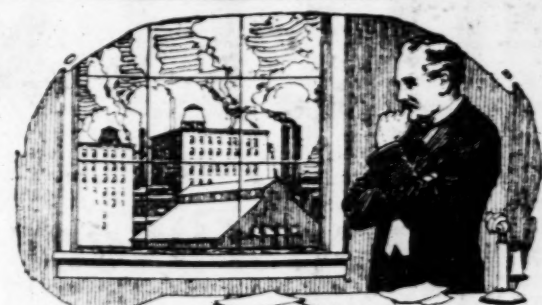

JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—It was learned today that Gov. Hyde is considering the advisability of postponing the extra session of the Legislature until August. A number of influential State Republicans, including Congressman M. E. Rhodes of the Thirtieth District, have conferred with the Governor in an effort to delay the extra session.

The purpose of the session is to provide legislation for the expenditure of the $40,000,000 road fund voted at the November election. Party leaders are planning to have a congressional redistricting bill introduced and passed at the extra session, and it is for the purpose of giving this matter consideration that postponement is sought. Until Congress announces its apportionment under the new census, the congressional boundary lines cannot be altered.

"It is possible that a new date may become necessary," said the Governor today. "But just now the situation is unchanged. I am hoping that Congress will act before the time I have virtually agreed to call the Legislature into extra session. If it does not, it may be necessary to postpone the date."

Congressman Newton is making an effort to amend the congressional reapportionment bill, giving the State

Redistricting Board, consisting of the secretary of State, authority to redistrict the State.

The Men of 60:

MEN of affairs give much thought, at the age of 60, to the business of putting their estates in order.

They consider turning their investments into forms which may be easily transferred to their successors.

Some make plans to turn their business capital, as far as practicable, into investments. They withdraw from active business, believing it a better policy to bequeath investments rather than business responsibilities.

They take pains to make provision for safeguarding their estates to their families. They wisely believe that, with their ripened experience, they can invest more safely than can inexperienced heirs.

The man of 60 who is thinking of putting his estate in order will find an answer to some of his perplexities in the "Mercantile Trust Plan." It has features which commend it to those who would remove pitfalls from the path of those who will inherit the accumulations. Inquire for our booklet which describes the plan.

14 U. S. MARINES SERVING AS ENGINEERS ON CHINESE PROJECT

Volunteers Constructing Road for Red Cross to Aid Famine Stricken Area.

By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, March 11.—Fourteen marines from the American legation guard are serving as engineers and assistant engineers on the road construction work which is being done in the famine district by the American Red Cross for the purpose of affording occupation for destitute Chinese. They are volunteers who willingly gave up comfortable stations in Pekin for a temporary life of considerable hardship in a dreary country, and have taken hold with true American spirit.

The work entails, on the part of the division engineers, days on end in the saddle, moving from one end of the division to the other and with none too comfortable living quarters and one of the men writes back to his mates that after the day's work he "goes to bed to keep warm."

The road under construction extends from Tschow, Shantung, to Linhsing, 68 miles southwest on the Grand Canal.

Incidentally it is reported that dogs—such as have escaped the stew-pot—have become in their famished condition as savage as wolves. The officer in charge of the road work writes:

"Was attacked by dogs at Kiu Shui Pu and had to shoot one." He also states that their work is hampered by people removing the stakes which mark the right-of-way for use as firewood.

He recommends that the present force of marines be retained on the construction work, both because of the credit accruing to the legation guard and because the Red Cross has great need of them, since foreign volunteers are scarce.

$1,287,276 ESTATE LEFT BY COUNTY MAN

Holdings of W. H. Smith Jr.
Greater Than Relatives at First Estimated.

An inventory filed today in the Probate Court at Clayton shows that the estate of William Henry Smith Jr., which had been estimated by his brother at $400,000, actually amounts to $1,287,276.53. Smith lived when in St. Louis at the home of his brother, J. Herndon Smith, of 6309 Ellsworth avenue, Brentwood.

He was a retired coal operator, formerly having large anthracite interests, but the inventory showed that the properties had been disposed of the fortune now being in stocks, bonds and cash. Smith died in New York, Oct. 27.

A will, filed a month afterward, left one-third of the estate to the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore Smith. Small bequests to other persons were designated, and one-half of the remainder of the estate was willed to J. Herndon Smith, and one-fourth to Edward Herndon Smith of Chicago, another brother, the reason given being that J. Herndon Smith had the larger family.

Virtually half the estate, $589,728, was in stocks of large corporations, the chief holdings being 677 shares of General Electric Co., 490 of Fulton Iron Works, 200 American Car Co. and 250 J. I. Case Machine Co. There was $518,402 in bonds, of which $127,919 is in Liberty Bonds, and $43,729 in British and Belgian war bonds. There is $64,978.43 in cash.

Under the will it was provided that either the widow, or J. Herndon Smith could act as executor, or, if they refused, the St. Louis Union Trust should act.

DEFICIENCY BILL IS READY FOR PRESENTATION TO HOUSE

Heaviest Single Item on List Is $275,000 for Confederate Pensions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 11.—The deficiency bill carrying items totaling nearly $1,500,000 was completed by the House Appropriations Committee last night and will be introduced in the House during the day.

The heaviest item on the list is that of $275,000 for Confederate pensions, which was appropriated by the last Legislature but disallowed by Gov. Gardner when he feared that the State revenues would not be sufficient to pay it.

Claims of Ex-Confederate soldiers of St. Louis and St. Louis County were allowed as follows: Edward S. Lewis, St. Louis, $6778; John E. Mooney and St. Mark Hotel, St. Louis County, $916; P. C. Bruno, clerk to the Excise Commissioner, St. Louis County, $452.

The contingency bill with appropriations totaling $4,750,000 will be introduced in the House today. Among the items are: National Guard, $300,000; State Fair, $249,000; and the Centennial celebration, $150,000.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FAVORS PROGRAM OF ROADS FEDERATION

Plan Calls for Bipartisan Commission to Supervise Expenditure of $60,000,000.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has unanimously endorsed the program of the Missouri Good Roads Federation presented before a special meeting of the Legislature recently, calling for the establishment of a bipartisan commission to supervise the expenditure of the $60,000,000 good roads bond issue voted last November.

The board pointed out that expenditure under direction of a business-like administration of the State Highway Department would result in approximately $100,000,000 through the addition of Federal aid reasonably anticipated, and supplemented by funds already appropriated for State highways.

Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to Gov. Hyde, Attorney-General Barrett, the president of the Senate, Speaker of the House and to all individual members of the Legislature.

POLITICAL REVOLT IN CUBA

Liberal Congressmen Refuse to Attend Any More Meetings.

HAVANA, March 11.—Liberal members of the Cuban House of Representatives and the Cuban Senate will refuse to attend further meetings of Congress and will not discharge the duties of their office, according to a decision reached by the Executive Committee of that party here last night. Liberals who hold places on provincial and Town Councils, Boards of Education and Electoral Boards will also refrain from attending to their official duties under the terms of the resolution.

This action on the part of the Executive Committee followed the passage of a resolution earlier in the evening, providing for the withdrawal of all Liberty party candidates from the partial elections to be held on March 15, unless "sufficient guarantees for the holding of free and honest elections" are given. Political observers here expressed the opinion that the committee's action was taken for the purpose of forcing the political situation in Cuba.

Hal Janvrin Has Chance to Become Cardinal Regular

Boston Boy Reports and Will Get Tryout at Second if Stock Fails to Join.

ATHLETICS WIN AGAIN

Error by Lavan Gives Macks Deciding Run in Tenth by 7-6 Score.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ORANGE, Tex., March 11.—Harold Chandler Janvrin, sometimes referred to as the champion utility player of the major league, joined the Cardinals here yesterday. Janvrin had been a holdout, but recently came to terms. Immediately on his arrival he got into uniform. Janvrin may put a big figure in the Cardinals this season. It may be his first opportunity since his connection with the St. Louis club to become a regular on Branch Rickey's infield. This depends on whether Milton J. Stock goes through with his announcement to quit baseball unless he receives a boost in salary. If Stock retires from baseball it will likely mean that Rogers Hornsby will be the club's third baseman and that Janvrin will become the second baseman.

Only Two Players Missing.

Janvrin's induction into the Cardinals leaves only two players out in the cold. They are Milt Stock and Jack Smith, the outfielder. With Janvrin a member in good standing and Leslie Mann and Clarence Mueller ready to divide work in right field, Stock and Smith may not be with the club for some time. Janvrin's return makes it possible to plug-up a hole in the infield caused by Stock's failure to come to terms. Another expected arrival is Bill Pertica, the pitcher purchased from the Los Angeles team by the Cardinals club. That Pertica may not lead much work to get into condition is evident from the fact that he was said to have pitched a game in Los Angeles last Sunday. This news was "brought into camp" by Janvrin, who passed through the sunny State last week and said that the California Italian was booked to appear in an exhibition game in movie land.

Clarence, "Tillie" Walker, the former Browns, looked like a victory for the Cards over the Athletics, in the ninth round the Cards were showing the way by a 4-3 score, when Tilly hoisted one off Mike Kircher's straight ones over the left field fence. The Cardinals were on top at the time and Walker's hit knocked the count Kircher weakened in the ninth and a scratch hit a pass, a hit batsman and an error by Lavan, led in another run, the Cards were on top.

Cardinals Outfit Athletics.

As in most of the previous games the Cardinals outplayed the Athletics, getting 12 hits to eight for the White Elephants. However, some fielding errors hurt the St. Louisans. Lavan's misplay coming at a critical time in the tenth inning. "Tink" Riviere, the Texas crack, went six rounds. In that time four hits and as many runs were counted off him. He was wilder than on his previous appearance, but pleased greatly by the manner in which he constantly pulled himself out of sticky situations. For instance, in the second frame, the Athletics scored the cushion with none out, but managed to score only one run. In the sixth a double and base on balls, were followed by errors by Hornsby and Fournier and led in three runs.

Mike Kircher went on the job in the seventh and started until he blew the bases in the tenth. One error when Jess Haines went in to relieve the big left hander, Jess pitched to Galloway, whose effort was a bouncer to Lavan, who should have had his man at the plate. However, he kicked the ball and the winning run went in. Griffin forced a man and Jess struck out the third fellow.

Connie Mack Is Pleased.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics is greatly pleased with the showing of his men against the Cardinals, a dispatch from Louisiana, said today. Although the Cardinals have won every contest, the Athletics have won five out of six games played.

Fred Toney Accepts Terms.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The New York Nationals, it was reported from their training camp at San Antonio today, will play exhibition games in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, and Virginia on the return trip to New York. Their schedule will be announced later. Manager McGraw said Fred Toney, who has been a holdout, has come to terms and probably will report for training tomorrow.

Dodgers After Stengel.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Negotiations are in progress for the return of Casey Stengel, outfielder of the Philadelphia National League baseball team, to the Brooklyn club, according to word yesterday from the Dodgers' training camp in the South. It was reported that Manager Robinson is willing to trade either Wheat or Smith for Stengel. He was traded

Breadon Departs for VISIT TO ORANGE, TEX.

Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, departed last night for Orange, Tex., to watch Rickey's athletes in training. Breadon will be gone for 10 days or two weeks. "Fuzzy" Anderson, another large stockholder in the club, is scheduled to join Breadon in Texas. Anderson will go from Hot Springs.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Everybody's Doing It.

GERMANY is not alone in facing the problem of producing something from nothing, financially. The golf division of the Public Recreation Department of St. Louis is finding out that somehow, from somewhere, the wherewithal to produce and maintain greens, fairways and approaches for the public links must be found, or the public of this city will be sadly disappointed. No money is now available.

For several years the funds available for maintenance of the eighteen and nine hole courses at Forest Park have been inadequate. The upkeep of the links has been so for years that good players have refused to play the annual city championship which, because of this refusal has become something akin to a farce.

There is no crying need and there are two ways of getting it: By appropriation from city funds, which has been the method in the past; and by charging a small fee for permits to play. In order to put across the latter plan it first would be necessary to pass a city ordinance.

Everybody's Doing It.

OBJECTIONS to this course have been offered, but investigation by D. R. Niederlander, president of the Forest Park Golf Club, revealed that a charge for permits was no novelty in public golf affairs throughout the country.

Mr. Niederlander recently conducted an investigation of the methods of financing public golf courses in 26 cities of the United States. He was somewhat surprised to learn that of the 26 municipalities, only 13 (including St. Louis) levied permits absolutely without charge. The other 23 cities had charges of various sorts, ranging from a daily fee of $1 assessment for a single day's play, to a monthly charge of $10 per annum, with a $2 monthly charge, while the daily assessment was from 25 cents to $1.

The cities that supplied free golf were St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Milwaukee, Louisville, Toledo, Syracuse, Omaha, Bridgeport, Hartford, Kansas City, Springfield (Ill.) and Rochester.

New York levied its finances by a $5 yearly permit charge and a $1 assessment for a single day's play. At Lincoln Park, Chicago, the tax was 25 cents per day, $3 per season. Cleveland is a $10 annual, 50 cents daily proposition. Towson, who passed through the sunny State last week and said that the California Italian was booked to appear in an exhibition game in movie land.

Clarence, "Tillie" Walker, the former Browns, looked like a victory for the Cards over the Athletics, in the ninth round the Cards were showing the way by a 4-3 score, when Tilly hoisted one off Mike Kircher's straight ones over the left field fence. ### Major League Training Camp Briefs

Speaker Is Working Hard.

CLEVELAND, O., March 11.—Dispatches from the spring training camp of the Cleveland Indians at Dalton, Ga., refer to Manager Tris Speaker as the busiest player on the team.

Yesterday Speaker took his turn at batting, fielding, working behind the bat and at first base. He put in a session with the medicine ball, developed about 10 miles to basketball and an hour after the team left the field was on his way to Fort Worth to participate in a basketball game. Stephen, the University of Alabama star athlete, distinguished himself with some fancy fielding about second base. He also hit the ball hard.

Fohl's Recruits Defeat Regulars With Sisler Out

World's Greatest Batsman Prevented From Practicing by an Infected Toe.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOGALUSA, La., March 11.—The Ynnigans yesterday handed the regulars their first defeat of the season, score 4 to 2. George Sisler was absent from the game because of an infected toe due to a corn.

Johnny Tobin also was missing from the battle, having gone on a turkey hunt with "Lefty" Loftis, "Dixie" Davis and the Chief of Police of Bogalusa.

Jimmy Austin played first base for the regulars while Todt took care of the right field position. Urban Shocke opened on the hill for the veterans and he was touched for three hits and three runs in six innings. Shocke got away to a bad start in the first inning when the kids landed on his offerings for three hits and a run.

It appears that Sisler is dipping about fish fighting than Spain is about bull fighting. The Government recognizes the game to the extent of forbidding the killing of streets and highways, because the oil would drain into the lakes and streams and destroy the fishy fighters.

The individual fighting fish, according to the author named, is about the size of our gold fish. Here's a description of the "battling fish."

"You catch a fighting fish and put it into a bottle. Your neighbor does likewise. You put your bottle 'close to your neighbor's. Your fish doesn't like the looks of the enemy and becomes enraged. So does the other fish. They both flash all colors of the rainbow and swell up. You bet on your fish and your friends back you. After a time one fish or the other, hurling itself against the glass in a vain effort to reach its adversary, becomes so angry that it literally bursts. If it is your neighbor's fish that bursts, you win; if it is your own, you lose."

The St. Louis fish fight seems to resemble some of our high-prize boat fights in both instances about all the principals do is to blow up.

Cullop Shows Good Form.

Nick Cullop, the veteran port-aid, finished the game on the firing line for the regulars. He pitched well in the second inning, but he did not issue a single base on balls.

Manager Fohl has received word from the management of the Milwaukee ball club that 14 players will be brought to this city for the game Saturday and Sunday against the Browns.

Fohl has great confidence in his men and is expecting them to do some record breaking hitting. The schedule of the trip follows: March 12 and 13, Milwaukee at Bogalusa; March 14 and 15, Browns at Bogalusa; March 16 and 17, Browns at Bogalusa; March 18 and 19, Browns at Bogalusa; March 20 and 21, Browns at Bogalusa; March 22 and 23, Browns at Bogalusa; March 24 and 25, Browns at Bogalusa; March 26 and 27, Browns at Bogalusa; March 28 and 29, Browns at Bogalusa; March 30 and 31, Browns at Bogalusa.

Holdout Cooper Signs.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 11.—Willie Cooper, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who has been a holdout, signed his 1921 contract a few hours before the squad left for Hot Springs, Ark., where they are to begin training at West Baden, Ind., will join the party at St. Louis this afternoon.

Tie in Six-Day Race.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Three teams were tied for the lead at the 1921 Six-Day race at Madison Square Garden today—Rutt and Lorenz, Brocco and Johnson, and Egg and Van Kempen. Each combination had covered 1700 miles and eight laps. The record for this hour is 2035 miles and six laps. The race was held at Duquesne Garden here, March 14 and 15. Miss Gladys Robinson, Toronto, Canada, world's champion woman skater, Miss Rose Johnson, Chicago, former world's champion, and 20 men skaters are in the list.

22 Skaters Are Entered.

PITTSBURGH, March 11.—Twenty-two amateur ice skaters of the United States and Canada have forwarded their entries for the international indoor amateur skating championship races, to be held at Duquesne Garden here, March 14 and 15. Miss Gladys Robinson, Toronto, Canada, world's champion woman skater, Miss Rose Johnson, Chicago, former world's champion, and 20 men skaters are in the list.

Tia Juana Will Reopen.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—The Lower California Jockey Club announced yesterday its track at Tia Juana will reopen Sunday. A ruling was made by the Mexican Government on passports to Tia Juana is expected today. Increased visa charges caused the track to close.

Lynch Beats Burman.

CLEVELAND, O., March 11.—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion, last night won the newspaper decision over Joe Burman, Chicago, in a 10-round bout here. Lynch took five rounds. Burman three and two even. The boys weighed under 120 pounds ringside.

COCHRAN AVERAGES 150 AND LEADS EUROPEAN STAR BY 457 POINTS

DETROIT, Mich., March 11.—Walker Cochran took two innings last night to run up his 300 points in the eighth block of his 2400-point billiard match with Edouard Horne.

In the first inning Cochran scored 66. Horne made one point and the American ended the block with an unfinished run of 234.

The block put Cochran in the lead by 457 points, the score being 2400 to 1943.

W. L. Umpire Staff Complete.

CHICAGO, March 11.—With the signing of three new men, President Kearney of the Western League today completed his staff of umpires for the 1921 season. Ollie Anderson, Howard "Ducky" Holmes, from the Pacific Coast League, and McGinnis, of the American Association, are the new additions to the staff. The other members are Matty Fitzpatrick, Joe Becker, W. J. Buckley, Frank Wilson, W. J. Burnside and Jack Daly. Wilson probably will be released to the American League as President Sam Johnson is negotiating for his services.

Reed Throws Jake Carry.

Football Coaches Averse to Change in Present Rules

Majority Attending the Daily Meeting Do Not Want Pass or Goal Kick Altered.

By Walter Camp.

The meeting of football coaches took place at the Astor Hotel in New York under the leadership of Maj. Daly, and there is no doubt but that from this meeting will be evolved a plan for a general conference of coaches by the close of next year's football season, to take up football questions while they are still fresh in the minds of all.

The meeting declared itself as seeking representation on the central board of officials and also in recommending more representation on the Rules Committee of those more closely identified and familiar with the actual playing of the game, as well as a wider and more sectional representation of football officials on the committee.

The discussion of suggested amendments proved that the great majority were averse to curtailing the forward pass or doing away with the goal kick after a touchdown.

A New Intercollegiate Field Meet.

A modest little paragraph announces what is likely to prove a very important innovation. The national intercollegiate track and field meet will be held at the University of Chicago on June 11. John L. Griffith of the University of Illinois is the chairman of the committee in charge of the meet and his statement is as follows:

"The meet will determine the national collegiate championship for the first time. We hope that every conference in the country will send its star men."

As this meet is two weeks after the intercollegiate, it gives ample opportunity for the contenders in that event, as well as the winners in the various conference competitions, to rest their men.

Should this initial meet prove a success and gather together all the stars it will add greatly to track interest throughout the country and prolong a season that has formerly come to an abrupt conclusion the end of May.

RULES COMMITTEE ON FOOTBALL MEETS TODAY

NEW YORK, March 11.—Members of the Football Rules Committee gathered here today to discuss many changes suggested by the football coaches' association, which was in conference the first of the week.

Among some of the suggestions were the removal of the rule barring tackling below the knees, provision of an extra period in case of a tie and abolishment of the goal after touchdown.

KAUFF VISITS LANDIS AND DEPARTS FOR SOUTH

CHICAGO, March 11.—Benny Kauff of the New York National League baseball team departed from Chicago last night to join his team, which is in spring training at San Antonio, Tex., after an interview with Federal Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball here yesterday.

Judge Landis refused to reveal the nature of his discussion with Kauff, but it was declared in baseball circles that the interview was for the purpose of obtaining any information Kauff may have had regarding charges of gambling during the last Giants-Cubs series of 1919 in Chicago.

SECOND INSTALLMENT

OTHERS offered to remove various parts of her, but she declined to be separated from any part of her.

She reduced Hattie's general practitioner almost to nervous prostration, and at last, in order to get her off her hands and off her daughter's nerves, he casually recommended a New York specialist, Dr. Court-ridge, who had the monopoly on a very strange operation dealing with the pancreas or something that Momma didn't even know she had. She was quite overawed at finding herself the proud possessor of such a thing. She felt like an old witch, that has suddenly learned it has had few movements all these years. But a few hours of being interested in herself she slumped again and said she guessed she'd make her old pancreas back to Carthage with her. She'd get along with it so far, and, seeing as she'd sent herself a trip to New York all her life for fun, she certainly wasn't going all that way to let a doctor make a knife into her.

Hattie fumed and bullied in vain for a day or two, then she fired off a telegram to Poppa to come over at once.

POPPA was putting through a big deal and the telegram nearly killed him out of his wits. He would wait to extend the option. He ran down to the station and swung on a train just pulling out.

He did not even stop for the collar, both brush and night gown that constituted his usual going-away equipment.

He spent a horrible night in the smoking car, sleeping among his disheveled limbs like a wrecked grasshopper. At Terre Haute he took a taxi to Hattie's house, and was in such a mental and facial disarray when he rang the bell that the maid who answered it slammed the door on him and ran to tell her mistress that they was a crazy man on porch.

Hattie peeked through the little life window and recognized her father, and flung open the door and her arms to him.

He expected to find Momma on her deathbed, but she was at breakfast, crying into her rolled oats.

"What on earth is the matter of you, Momma?" he gasped.

permit you to drag from them the one card that will work the trick. But now Momma was not stacking the cards. She had economized for so many decades that money had become a thing sacrosanct. Unwittingly she had dealt Poppa the deadliest humiliation in her power, for he was what Carthage people called "rich," he had lands and lands in his own and Momma's name, and big sums out on mortgages.

A new suit of clothes was a nuisance. Extra servants that never went home. The simplest food everlastingly repeated was all his stomach craved.

MOMMA would as soon have had the measles as a limousine, and jewels on her fingers would have crippled her like inflammatory rheumatism. The changing styles of Paris interested her as much as the fables of Barnegat. She had not changed the manner of wearing her hair since she was a mother for the first time, and her dresses were made by a sewing woman who was more interested in the gossip of the families she moved among than in the daily hints from Paris.

With money pouring in in amounts whose importance neither husband nor wife ever thought of translating into luxuries, and sleeping out in a slow trickle, the old couple had come near to being miserable without dreaming of stinginess.

This big land deal of Poppa's had brought him to a sudden realization that he was a pretty big fellow. The banks had begun to turn to him with opportunities for large turnovers and bonds were offered him in bundles.

And so when Momma implied that a trip to New York, to save her life maybe, was beyond his means, he was hurt and enraged, and in his anger he rose to an eloquence of gallantry he never would have achieved in a more temperate mood.

"Too much money, hey? You think you can't afford it, do you? Well, let me tell you that I can afford to send you to any town that anybody else can afford to go to. And if that old bankers' doctor has got any patients at all besides millionaires, and if he don't charge more'n a hundred thousand dollars a patient, you can be his best operation he's got in his shop."

Momma braced up a bit at this and gave Hattie a proud look as much as to say: "You haven't married the only successful man in the world, Mrs. Eppes." But she shook her head.

"You ain't goin' to bankrupt your self shippin' me to any doctor, for I'm not worth it. And that's all there is about it."

"Not worth it?" Poppa cried with the fervor, if not the rhetoric, of a Romeo. "Well, if you ain't worth it, I'd like to know who is? All I got is none too much to spend on you. And if I had ten times as much, what'd it be worth if I lost you, Momma?"

This was so poetic and beautiful that Momma had to get mad or break down and beller, so she put up a big fight.

nobody is offering to go to New York with me."

Hattie spoke first. "I'd go in a minute if I could leave the children, but with little Eddie having his tonsils removed tomorrow and Fannie's chickenpox just coming out—"

Momma saw the reluctance in his aspect, and, though she knew that he had some strong business reason behind it, her constant nervous mood took umbrage at it. "What'd I tell you? Well, I will go. I'll go all by myself, to some lonely old hotel, and if I never come back nobody will know the difference."

"Of course you shan't go by yourself, honey," Poppa protested. "I was only thinkin' that if I could go home for a while I could set my business to rights and probably close up a big deal I had on when I got Hattie's wire. If I net to put that through, it would net me a couple of thousand, and that would go a long way toward paying for your operation, most likely; and then I could come on and be with you whilst you was convalescing, and then, if anything was to happen to me, the business would be all right and I'd leave you and the children fixed."

THIS was the simple, humble statement of his mind in the matter; that solemn devotion to his work that makes a priestcraft of an art of business. Like all successful creators, he consecrated himself to his work and sacrificed himself to its completion. No poet or sculptor could have a holier or purer ambition for perfection and a flawless conclusion, and there was no more thought of selfishness or greed.

Momma understood and loved him, but the disease in her soul took offense at everything, and, though she realized the selflessness of his motive, she took a perverse delight in disturbing it.

Then ensued one of those duels in which each took the wrong side with a kind of devoted insincerity. Poppa frantically declared that he would go and nothing should stop him, and she as frantically declared that if he went she wouldn't.

Momma insisted that she hadn't a friend on earth or in New York, and she would rather go back and die in her own bed than die alone in New York.

This reminded her distraught husband that she did have a friend in New York, her old playmate, Ella Jemison, who had married Sam Killip and gone to New York and fortune.

"Oh, yes, I'm likely to ask rich folks like her to take me in!" Momma sobbed. "She wouldn't look at me. She's forgotten she ever knew me. Though we are kind of second cousins by marriage."

"Well, her husband hasn't forgotten he ever knew me," Poppa snapped. "Didn't I have a letter from him only the other day, and didn't he say his wife asked to be kindly remembered to you?"

"Sam Killip wrote to you?" Momma cried. "Oh, rich folks like him come to write to you?"

Poppa winced again at being a prophet without honor in his own home. "Oh, I guess he ain't the only rich folks in the world. He said he saw I was a director in the Third National Bank, and he wanted to enlarge his capital, and he could offer me a chance to sit in on the ground floor of a patent locomotive stoker he was pushing. He said he was a little short of cash."

"Sam Killip short of cash?" "Rich folks are always short of cash," Poppa explained. "That's why they're rich. The minute they get any cash they put it into something and make it work. I was going to tell Sam I couldn't see my way clear, but if Ella will look after you a little I'll help him out."

This put a new face on the matter. Instead of going to New York as a decrepit, friendless villager, imploring the pity of an old acquaintance on whom her only claim was an old acquaintance, she was offered a chance to float in upon her as a bearer of rich gifts. She smiled evenly and thought of the Three Wise Men.

"I'd go there as a kind of a Mrs. Magi, then?"

"Yes! Exactly! And I guess she'd treat you like a Grand Duchess, or something."

"Oh, no, I don't see how I could," Momma sighed, slumping again, too deeply dejected to reach out and pluck the golden apple.

But Poppa had more insight than anyone suspected, and he had caught the glint of interest in Momma's eye. It was the first sparkle he had seen since she was a child, though it had been quenched at once, it emboldened him to tyranny. He got to his feet and left the house with a maddening mysteriousness.

He was inspired to the amazing audacity of calling Mr. Killip on the long-distance telephone. He went to the hotel so that Momma could not interrupt him. When he had his New York victim by the ear he told him the whole story, and Killip, who was still human though a New Yorker, was as effusive in welcoming Momma as in accepting Poppa's additional offer of money enough to stoke the stoker project to a heavy glow.

Poppa went back and told Momma what he had done, and told her to pack up. Her next obstacle was: "But I got no clothes here, I'll have to go home and pack, and I just ain't got the strength."

"You got no clothes at home either," Hattie put in. "You can go downtown with me and get you some decent things. You can't go to New York looking like an old farmer."

THIS was the wrong note. Momma broke her moorings again. "I told you you was ashamed of me. I'm not fit to be seen in Terre Haute, let alone in New York. I'm simply not going to New York to make an exhibition of myself and make Ella Killip turn up her nose at me."

She prolonged her resistance to the point where Poppa grew desperate enough to groan.

"Well, you do as you're a mind to. Seein' you're strong enough to fight forever, you go home and run the business and I'll go to the hospital my own self."

"Run the business! That's all you think off," she retorted with a sublime non sequitur. "Put me on the cattle train and ship me off to the slaughter house. Ella still loves me, anyway, even if nobody else does, and she'll see to it I get decently buried, and that's all I got a right to expect."

Poppa dashed out and bathed his hot head in cold water before he went to the ticket office. He nearly bit the head off the agent, just to show that he had some manhood left.

He was never quite the same man again after he got Momma on the train at last. He bade her a despondent farewell, feeling sure that he would never see her again. And, in a sense, he never did.

GOING to the city for the first time in her life, especially at such a time in her life, was an adventure and a half for Momma.

In spite of the fact that she was the great windfall, the knives of a surgeon who was her forlorn hope, she could not but feel a certain elation. She was experiencing what Victor Hugo called a "new shudder."

She was almost more afraid of Ella Killip and her splendor than of the pancreatic specialist. She was fairly smothered with dread of facing the woman she had not seen since Ella was a gawling, noisy, small-town tomboy, all freckles and giggles and gawkiness.

She foresaw Ella as a sort of vast and glittering Queen Victoria, fattened on rich food and studded with jewels. She saw herself as a shabby farm wife, whom Ella would probably give one glance and flee from with disdain.

When she reached New York at last, her first struggle was with a red-capped ruffian who tried to steal her valise. Her next struggle was with her terror of the meeting with Ella. If she had known how to get a train back to Carthage, she would have taken it. But the crowd hustled her up the platform and she lugged a soul heavier than her rusty hand bag.

No one had met her at the train, and she was morbid enough to hope that Ella had missed her. But inside the station she found a crowd held back by a rope, and paused to stare at the staring eyes.

She saw no one that suggested the Ella she had planned, but a tall slim creature, dressed like an actress in glistening silk, came forward hesitantly. She looked young, and yet she didn't. Her hair was hidden by a hat whose brim seemed to have been flourished by the impatient, whimsical stroke of a painter's brush.

From this dressmaker's model came a voice that startled the valise from Momma's hand, for the voice came out of childhood, and it was the voice of Ella. It sang a new tune, but it was the old voice. It said timidly, tentatively: "Mattie? Is it you?"

Momma's soft old knees caved in, and she sat on the valise as she whimpered: "This is me, but you're never Ella!"

"Oh, yes, I am, my dear," said Ella, with a good laugh as she hoisted Momma to her feet. "I'm the same old sumpence."

"You look more like your own daughter, if you have one."

"Oh, I have one—three, in fact. But—come along, you old dear."

She nodded to a red cap, who took the valise and followed her as she led Momma through the station. Momma's dazed eyes supposed they were taking a short cut through a cathedral.

The Killip limousine was marvelous, but she expected marvels. She was a trifle disappointed when she reached Ella's home. She had expected to drive through a royal park to a palace. But she was put down at a house built jam in among a lot of other houses.

It was not half the size of Momma's house and had no yard at all except a small patch at the back.

In place of a double row of stiff-necked butlers up a grand staircase, there was one very pleasant young man at the door and an awfully nice hired girl in cap and apron. Very friendly she was too, and helped Momma in the most folksy way up to her room.

It was not half the size of Momma's house and had no yard at all except a small patch at the back.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

The Stranger in Brown.

AT THE sound of that sharp, snort and the deep "woof, woof!" from the great windfall, Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare once more took to their heels, and this time they did not stop until they had put a long distance between them and the great windfall. Presently, finding that they were not being followed, they stopped.

"If that wasn't a bear then I never heard one," declared Jumper when he could get his breath.

"But Buster Bear isn't in that windfall, and Buster is the only Bear in all the Green Forest," protested Peter.

"I can't help that," replied Jumper. "No one but a bear can make any such sounds as those we heard. Do you suppose Buster could have got back under that windfall from the other side without our knowledge?"

"No, sirree," declared Peter stoutly. "I left him tearing an old stump to pieces and came over to join you just as fast as I could run. Buster Bear isn't in that old windfall. It is someone else."

"Let's go back where we can watch that old windfall. We can hide far enough away to be safe," proposed Jumper.

Peter hesitated, but finally agreed. He knew that curiosity would never give him any peace until he had learned the truth about that mystery in the great windfall. So very slowly and carefully, stopping every two or three paces to sit up and look and listen, Jumper the Hare and Peter Rabbit stole back until they could see the great windfall. Then they hid in a patch of young hemlock trees and stared out at the great windfall.

Of course he did. Didn't he warn me to keep away from that windfall?" cried Peter. "We must find Buster again. He can explain all about that stranger."

They had been there but a few minutes when Peter poked Jumper in his ribs. "Look! Look there!" whispered Peter excitedly.

Out from under the great windfall a big head was thrust. It was the head of a bear! There was no doubt about it. But it wasn't Buster Bear's head. This head was brown! For a few minutes the stranger merely blinked and yawned, showing great teeth, the very sight of which made Peter shiver. Then with another sharp snort the stranger came wholly out. Peter gasped. The stranger's coat was wholly brown! It was unbelievable, but it was so. Both Peter and Jumper rubbed their eyes, but all the rubbing in the world wouldn't change the color of that coat. It was brown. There wasn't any black about it.

For a while the stranger sat blinking and yawning. Then after a few long stretches the stranger shuffled off among the trees. Jumper started at Peter and Peter stared at Jumper. "Now, what do you make of that?" demanded Jumper at last.

"Simply that there is a strange bear in the Green Forest and that we did see a brown coat under the old windfall," replied Peter. "The mystery is explained, but in its place is another mystery. Where did that bear come from and who is it? How does that coat happen to be brown?"

"It is too much for me," replied Jumper. "A bear with a brown coat is too much for me. Do you suppose Buster knew that that bear was in there?"

Scared Witness.

A Pittsburg lawyer was conducting a case in court not long ago and one of the witnesses, a burly negro, confessed that at the time of his arrest he was engaged in a craps game. Immediately the lawyer said, "Now, sir, I want you to tell the jury how you deal craps."

"Wass dat?" asked the witness, rolling his eyes.

"Address the jury, sir," thundered the lawyer, "and tell them just how you deal craps."

"Lemme outen heah!" cried the witness uneasily. "Fust thing I know this gem-men gwine to ask me how to drink a sandwich."—Argonaut.

Getting Next to the Trade.

"I carry a little personal data in this book," said the smart salesman. "I've sold thousands of dollars' worth of goods by knowing whether to bring up the subject of golf, fishing, hunting, poker or home brew."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Not a Steady Lawyer.

When Henry Shields was called as a prospective juror in the County Court, Brooklyn, he was asked if he had ever served in the case of a man charged with concealing his assets. Shields said he had been a trustee in bankruptcy.

"Why, such a person has to be a lawyer, and your card says you are a sign painter," remarked one of the attorneys.

"Oh, yes, I'm a lawyer, too," replied Shields. "but I can make more money painting signs, so I practice law on the side."

Shields was acceptable to the defense in the case at issue, but the District Attorney got him excused from jury service.—New York Post.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE NEW STATESMANSHIP.

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, before securing an appropriation for the fruit growers of his State, passed figs and dates around among his colleagues.

Time was when a Senator boosted a bill Which provided the home-folks with pork. He would let loose a stream of statistical steam Which only adjournment could cork. And when all his colleagues for hours had slept Through the fierce oratorical flow From said Senator's throat, they would waken and vote With a loud and unanimous "No!"

But young Mr. Ashurst a far better means Of gaining a hearing has found: He does not orate in behalf of his State Till he passes its products around. And statesmen, fed up upon succulent fruits, Sit back with a satisfied sigh. And gladly bestow twenty thousand or so With a frank and unanimous "Aye!"

Hereafter, if Oregon's sheep herds fall ill And a part of the Government's wealth Their owners declare, if sent promptly out there, Will quickly restore them to health. The statesman whose job it to ask for the cash, Will neither persuade nor entreat. But his colleagues won't kill such a much-needed bill If each finds a new suit in his seat.

Though Webster and Sumner and Clay and Calhoun The trend of opinion could sway By eloquent words, these persuasive old birds, Would not get a hearing today. For speeches, though logical, graceful and keen, Are greeted with sardonic grins. The Senators know that mere logic won't go; It is something substantial that wins!
